HALLOWE'EN ROWDY AFFAIR

Winnipeg Events Send Two to Hospitals: Police Disperse Rioters

Winnipeg, Nov. 1.—Winnipeg to-day reflected on one of the rowdiest Halloween celebrations in its history. Two persons were in a hospital and almost a dozen boys were listed on charges to be heard in juvenile court. A riot call had to be sent in to break up a midnight crowd on Portage Avenue.

J. H. Ludman, struck by missiles thrown by boys he was chasing away from his store, was in a hospital with scalp injuries. Four stitches were required to close the wounds. Ann Kamaky, seventeen, received cuts when the riot call officers started to disperse the Portage Avenue throng. She was standing next to the Mayfair Styls Shoppe when the plate glass window was broken. Her injuries were not serious. There were several hundred in the throng which blocked traffic and scattered cans, gates, an old bathtub and other relics over the street. Detonator caps were placed on car tracks.

The fire department answered more than thirty calls for minor outbreaks. Furniture in the home of William Robinson was damaged when a lantern set fire to window curtains.

Windsor, N. S., Nov. 1 (Canadian Press).—A lone in a forest cabin, Rev. Henry A. Harter, eighty-three-year-old retired Anglican minister, was found yesterday by searchers who had sought him through the dense Chester Road woods for more than twenty-four hours. Although tired and hungry, the aged clergyman appeared little the worse for his two-day experience in the woods. He had been missing since Monday evening, when he left home to hunt partridges.

NEW ZEALAND MINISTER QUILTS

Canadian Press via Reuter's
Wellington, N. Z., Nov. 1.—Sir Aspinara Ngata, native cabinet minister, resigned yesterday following the report of the royal commission on native affairs which revealed eighty complaints of irregularities and inefficient governmental methods in his department had been justified. Sir Aspinara was minister of native affairs and minister of the Cook Islands.

DENY RUMORS LEADER QUILTS

Associated Press
Berlin, Nov. 1.—Bishop Ludwig Mueller is still firmly in the saddle, the Protestant Church's government office said today in denying his had resigned.

"The Reichsbishop's position is firmer than ever," a spokesman said, "now that the line of contention—Jaeger—has resigned."

Dr. August Jaeger quit as Nazi Commissioner for Protestant Churches in Prussia this week.

But many observers consider Mueller's resignation is imminent, Chancellor Hitler having withdrawn his support of the Reichsbishop.

SUSPENDED SENTENCE

The Pas, Man., Nov. 1 (Canadian Press).—After Peterson, twenty-three, was convicted late yesterday of taking part in a riot and was given one year suspended sentence, Peterson was the first of fifteen, one a woman, to go on trial before juries on charges arising out of strike disturbances at Flin Flon, Man. Trial of the others is continuing.

TIME IS GIVEN FOR APPEAL

Vancouver, Nov. 1.—Two appeals from convictions carrying one-year sentences were dismissed by the British Columbia Court of Appeal yesterday, one appeal was withdrawn and a ten-day adjournment was granted to a fourth appellant.

The court refused to interfere in the case of Archie Robert Evans and Brian Keays, the former convicted by Judge J. D. Swanson at Kelowna on September 8 of having firearms in his possession and the latter convicted by Magistrate W. M. McKay in the Vancouver Police Court of a charge of attempted theft.

George Alexander Grant, convicted at Kelowna with Evans, for carrying an automatic pistol in an automobile, announced he wished to drop his appeal, which was thereupon dismissed.

Thomas Duncan, thirty-two, marine engineer, appealing from a robbery with violence conviction, was granted a ten-day adjournment to obtain a transcript of the trial evidence. He had been sentenced by Judge A. N. Harper to five years' imprisonment in the penitentiary, three years for robbery and two years for using a gun.

Indianapolis, Nov. 1.—So many people have visited the grave of John Dillinger, once the United States public enemy No. 1, that the sod around it has been worn away.

Hardly a day passes but several automobile loads of people, usually from other states, drive into the cemetery here and ask to be directed to the grave. Tons of cement were poured into the ground to protect the grave from ghouls.

Violinist Claims Big Insurance

Canadian Press
Toronto, Nov. 1.—John Langley, young Toronto violinist, is seeking $74,000 in a lump sum, or $70 a week for life from the Fidelity Assurance Company, because he lost his left index finger. He contends that without the finger he is totally disabled as far as his chosen profession is concerned.

The company alleges the wound was self-inflicted.

RELIEF CHANGE IS CRITICIZED

Canadian Press
Montreal, Nov. 1.—The question of unemployment is before all else a matter for federal attention, Hon. Fernand Rinfret, Liberal member of Parliament for St. James, Montreal, and former Secretary of State, said yesterday evening in an address before the St. Denis-Dorion Association here. Mr. Rinfret scored the government for its decision to pay the provinces only fixed lump sums per month for expenditure on relief.

Mr. Rinfret also declared Hon. H. H. Stevens, who resigned recently as Minister of Trade and Commerce and chairman of the commission on price spreads and mass buying, had been forced out because commercial interests had complained to the Prime Minister. Mr. Stevens was asking too many questions.

EIGHT BUYING BACK HOMES

Edmonds, B.C., Nov. 1 (Canadian Press).—Sale of ten parcels of Burnaby municipal property during the last week for a total of $2,880 was reported yesterday to Commissioner Hugh M. Fraser. Eight of the purchasers were said to be former owners who have made first payment on repurchase of their former homes.

NEW HEALTH PLANS STUDIED

B.C. and Other Provinces Ready to Co-operate With Dominion in Steps

Canadian Press
Toronto, Nov. 1.—Seeking concerted action by the federal and provincial governments in matters of public health, Dr. Gordon Bates, general director of the Canadian Social Hygiene Council, yesterday made known the canvassed opinions of provincial authorities with a view to co-ordinated measures under Dominion authority, arrived at through a federal-provincial conference.

Dr. Bates declared that in the British North America Act the only reference to health was in subjects dealing with quarantine and establishment and maintenance of marine hospitals. Because of this, he believed there was "no good reason why the Dominion should not enter into full participation in any scheme for the promotion of health throughout Canada."

From each of the nine provinces came expressions of approval of co-operation along health lines. Hon. G. M. Weir, Provincial Secretary of British Columbia, said his province was anxious to co-operate with the federal authorities in the promotion of public health, which he regarded as the very cornerstone of national well-being, and declared that "from the standpoint of scientific public health, provincial boundary lines have little significance."

Robbers Beat Vancouver Man

G. McCuaig, Stock Brokers' Employee, Beaten; Thugs Take $400

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Nov. 1.—George McCuaig, employee of a firm of Vancouver stockbrokers, was "taken for a ride" yesterday by three thugs who gave him a severe beating and robbed him of $400.

Shortly after 2 p.m. McCuaig was on his way back to his office with money he had just withdrawn from a bank. Near a lane at Pender and Granville Streets three men seized him, forced him into a waiting automobile and, climbing in after him, headed the car for Stanley Park.

When McCuaig struggled to free himself, his assailants beat him, cutting his face badly and tearing his clothing. They searched him, robbed him and forced him from the car at the entrance to Stanley Park.

Police were notified and given a description of the bandits by McCuaig.

PROTOCOL CASE IS ADJOURNED
Bern, Switzerland, Nov. 1.—The Jewish "protocol trial," in which leaders of the race are seeking to prove the falsity of the "Protocols of the Elders of Zion," yesterday was adjourned for at least a month to allow witnesses for the defendants to make a report on the authenticity of the documents.

The court appointed Lieut.-Col. Ulrich Felschauer of Erfurt, Germany, as an expert witness to investigate the documents for the defendants in the criminal libel action.

The "Protocols of the Elders of Zion" alleged Jewry planned to dominate the world.

ALDERMAN TO RETIRE
Vancouver, Nov. 1 (Canadian Press).—Alderman W. J. Twiss yesterday announced he would retire from civic affairs at the end of his current term as councillor for Ward Ten. His term will expire December 31. He said business interests would not permit him to continue.

Alderman Twiss was chairman of the city council's committee on harbor, utilities and airport in both years of his incumbency.

Mrs. K. an up-country resident, writes a letter, just received, in which she writes: "Ten years ago our family came to British Columbia and Pacific Milk was the first milk we used. We liked it, continued using it, but finally to try something else bought other milk and changed and changed until we had used everything, occasionally coming back to Pacific Milk, until the last two years, during which we have used Pacific Milk altogether. It fully meets every purpose and I write this thinking perhaps you would like to know it." Indeed we do and many thanks.

Twenty-three Thousand Dollars
Is Still Required To Finance the Work of the Friendly Help Welfare Associations of Greater Victoria for the Coming Year.

Thousands of letters and pledge cards have been sent out from Campaign Headquarters during the last few weeks but up to date the number of returns has been disappointingly small. It has been left to 360 individual donors to set the mark of $17,000 now reached. There must be many thousands of people in this city and the adjacent municipalities who, without feeling it, could give a dollar or two to help those who through circumstances beyond their control are helpless and hopeless.

On this page appears a reproduction of the pledge card sent out from Headquarters. For the convenience of those who have not received a card or who have mislaid it, may we suggest that they cut out this reproduction, fill it in and mail it to Campaign Headquarters, Room 6, 640 Fort Street, together with their donation, no matter how small. Should it be more convenient to pay at a later date or in instalments, the card may be filled in accordingly.

THE SAAR

FRANCE HAS NOTIFIED GREAT
Britain that she has made all preparations to crush any attempt at a Nazi Putsch in the Saar region. She has taken technical measures to place at the disposal of the League of Nations, whose Commission is responsible for the administration of the Saar, forces necessary to prevent subversive action. Anti-Nazi elements in the Saar have reported to the authorities that it is rumored 17,000 Nazis now in Labor camps across the German frontier are planning the coup for the night of the election—next January 13. Obviously the French are ready to see that, as prescribed by the Treaty of Versailles, French troops enter the territory if such a course should be considered necessary by the League for the maintenance of order.

The election to be held next January is to decide whether the 818,000 adult inhabitants of the Saar want to belong permanently to France or Germany, or whether they want to remain neutral and continue to be governed by the League of Nations Commission. This territory, with its rich coal mines—there are thirty-one of them employing about 72,000 men, with five iron and steel plants and subsidiary industries employing a further 32,000—was ceded by Germany to France as compensation for the destruction of the coal mines in the north of France, and as part payment towards the total reparation due from Germany for the damage caused by the war. The League set January of next year for the plebiscite to determine the future destiny of the territory.

Richard von Kuehlmann, writing as a German, obviously is of the opinion that the plebiscite will be practically a walk-over for the German majority; but M. de Reinach, a French writer, recalls the fact that in 1815 the Prussians annexed the Saar against the wish of the population, and he rather counts on this recollection, especially as it is backed by the knowledge that in 1918, in certain districts where the memory of French rule had remained particularly strong, the oppressed population under German rule welcomed the French soldiers as their liberators. Indeed, the town of Sarrelouis, many of whose children had served in the ranks of the French army, put out their flags and sent a warm telegram to M. Poincaré, then head of the nation. It was because of this demonstration, M. de Reinach informs us, that "France laid claim to a district over which she had historic rights, where the descendants of 150,000 Frenchmen were living."

Says M. de Reinach in support of his belief that the Saar either will vote to become French or to remain under the wing of the League of Nations Commission: "The course of events in Germany has certainly caused many Saarlanders to reflect and made them hesitate on the eve of binding their fate to that of a country on the edge of bankruptcy, and which in the near future may become a prey to violent revolutionary disorders."

For a German, presumably a supporter of Hitlerism, the following comment of Herr von Kuehlmann strikes a humorous note: "As a sovereign the League of Nations has not proved a success in the Saar. The governing Commission has thought fit to rule on a non-democratic basis, paying little attention to the desires of the elected National Assembly, the Landtag."—The Landtag, by the way, is a council of thirty members which co-operates with the governing body in an advisory capacity. "The points of friction between the Commission and the Saar population are innumerable, and this state of affairs has made the Commission's rule extremely unpopular with the majority of the Saar population. I can not imagine that the prospect of indefinite Commission rule should prove in the least alluring to the inhabitants of the Saar."

M. de Reinach and Herr Kuehlmann have gone to the mat in words. The former seems confident that the original French territory will decide to become again wholly French. The latter obviously pooh-poohs such a suggestion. When the people go to the polls next January the world will learn what the Saar's population wants. Meanwhile, however, if President-Chancellor Hitler of Germany is wise, he will put the brakes on the aspirations of those of his supporters who are reported to be getting ready to crash the Saar gates. France is in no mood to be baited by a Nazi Putsch. Does Hitler want the Franco-German boundary line to be the left bank of the Rhine?

THE UNITED STATES ELECTIONS

NEXT TUESDAY THE PEOPLE OF THE United States will elect a new House of Representatives and complete the voting on one-third of the Senate. The House is composed of 435 members and the upper chamber ninety-six, two for each state in the Union. Senators are elected for six years and thirty-two of them must go up for re-election every two years. State governors also will be elected next Tuesday. Their term of office is two years.

The seventy-third Congress, elected in 1932, is constituted as follows: Senate, sixty Democrats, thirty-five Republicans, and one Farmer-Labor—ninety-six; House of Representatives, 312 Democrats, 117 Republicans, and five Farmer-Labor, with one vacancy. Incidentally, there are seven women members in the lower House. The one woman member of the cabinet is Miss Frances Perkins, Secretary of Labor, who already has made a name for herself.

Democrat party leaders are confident that after the ballots have been counted next week the forces of the administration will have increased their power in both House and Senate. Republican leaders, naturally, discount this forecast. There seems, however, to be a general recognition throughout the republic that while President Roosevelt has not been able to accomplish all he had hoped to accomplish with his New Deal policies, he has, to use a colloquialism, bucked the American people up when they most needed bucking up. In other words, he has produced a new psychology, not a very easy thing to do when a people finds itself in the slough of despond.

As we are reminded by The Literary Digest, it was just fifty years ago this year, in 1884, that the Democrat party came into executive power for the first time after the Civil War. In this span of fifty years, counting 1934 the second for President Franklin D. Roosevelt, while the Republicans have occupied the White House for thirty-two years.

The most interesting contest is that for the governorship of California, where Mr. Upton Sinclair, the former Socialist and now Democrat, is running on what he has called "EPIC"—and poverty in California. In the primaries he was a favorite by a large margin over his competitors; but it is one thing to be nominated and quite another thing to win in the final test.

The Literary Digest has been conducting one of its popular straw votes in California on the gubernatorial contest. There are five candidates in the running: Upton Sinclair, Democrat; Frank F. Merriam, Republican; Raymond L. Haight, Progressive Commonwealth; Milen C. Dempster, Socialist, and Sam Darcy, Communist. The first report of the straw vote—there were 700,000 ballots sent out by the New York weekly—gives Merriam 42,141 votes, Sinclair 17,284, and Haight 7,471. The other two are not in the running at all. Sinclair, of course, is fearless, as his writings have proved, and the salary as governor of California would be "small change" in comparison with what he gets from his literary work.

Despite this showing of The Literary Digest's straw vote, a vote taken in San Francisco gives Sinclair 7,000, Haight 4,700, and Merriam 4,300. Since San Francisco is regarded as a Merriam stronghold, this tally is somewhat surprising. At the same time, the straw votes conducted by The Digest have been uncannily accurate.

E. W. McMULLEN RETIRES

TODAY ON HIS RETIREMENT FROM the management of the main branch of the Bank of Montreal in Victoria, Mr. E. W. McMullen closes a banking record of nearly forty-four years. He began with the Merchants Bank of Canada in Ontario, and thirty-six years ago saw his first association with western Canada, on his transfer to Winnipeg. Thereafter he held many posts in the bank's service in the Prairie Provinces with whose business conditions, progress and prospects he became exceptionally familiar; a familiarity which proved of marked advantage to his company when he was transferred to the Victoria branch fifteen years ago, in the light of the close economic relationship between this province and the great agrarian area east of the Rockies. When the Merchants Bank of Canada was amalgamated with the Bank of Montreal he remained as manager of what became the main office of the latter institution here and continued in that capacity until today.

From the outset of his residence in this city, Mr. McMullen actively interested himself in community activities. He is a director of the Chamber of Commerce and has been connected with the Rotary Club and the Canadian Club since he first came here. He was associated with the organization of the Automobile Club. He took a deep interest in Navy League work. He is a member of several golf clubs, as well as of the Union and Pacific clubs. His membership has been highly valued by all of these organizations, to whom his sound judgment and wide information have been of direct advantage. Beyond all of these associations he has a large circle of acquaintances who hold him in high esteem for his fine integrity, frankness and kindly personality. He leaves the service of the bank with unimpaired physical vigor and mental alertness, and it may be expected that he will devote these without reserve to the welfare of the community he has so much at heart.

MURDER IN THE UNITED STATES

CENSUS BUREAU FIGURES SHOW that 12,123 murders were committed in the United States in 1933. Fewer than 4,000 people were sentenced as homicides, and only 133 were executed. One well-known United States commentator says:

"You need study those figures only for a moment to see what a comparatively small risk a killer actually runs. His chance of paying any kind of penalty at all for his crime is only about one in three; and there is just one chance in eighty that he will be executed!"

More startling than this, however—though doubtless in some way related to it—is the fact that the 1933 record is a new high for the United States; furthermore, the total has risen by more than 4,000 in the last ten years, fewer than 8,000 homicides having been recorded in 1923.

"As a disclosure of the growth of utter lawlessness in this land, these figures point their own moral."

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

MR. ROOSEVELT'S PRESTIGE
Washington Correspondent of The Winnipeg Free Press

But, by and large, in contrast to its predecessors, the Roosevelt administration has been like a wholesome wind and healthy sun, cleansing the dark recesses of the national household. That is why Mr. Roosevelt's prestige remains higher than ever; why his countrymen will overlook or forgive whatever economic failures may be charged to his administration. They know it has cost a lot of money and probably will cost a lot more; but no honest man among them will say the Roosevelt reforms have not been worth the money.

TORONTO OFF THE LIST

The London Advertiser

Last winter the distinguished young Canadian actor-manager, Raymond Massey, who had won a leading place in the British theatrical world, brought a new play, "The Shining Hour," and a brilliant company to Toronto for the first production, as a tribute to the city in which he had spent his early life.

The play was well attended but the newspaper critics attacked it or damned it with faint praise. It went immediately to New York where it ran for months as one of the reigning successes. This triumph is repeating in London. "It will probably be a long time before a first-class British theatrical company visits this country again."

Mr. Massey, who is a power on the British stage, has returned to England declaring that Toronto is off the theatrical map.

Loose Ends

Detailed instructions for a Minister of Trade and Commerce—who wishes to resign—solely in the public interest—and for a Prime Minister—who finds himself in a bit of a jam.

By H. B. W.

LETTERS

ON THE whole, I am a little disappointed with the Bennett-Stevens correspondence which is filling the newspapers these days. I mean, it seems to lack the personal, human touch so desirable in these state documents. To assist these two eminent statesmen in continuing the correspondence on a more intimate and charming vein, I have prepared a model of a letter from a Minister of Trade and Commerce tendering his resignation to a Premier, and the reply thereto.

This, it seems to me, is how a Minister of Trade and Commerce should resign: "My Dear Mr. Bennett: After all the trips we have been publishing in the press, let's get down to business for once. As you know, as everybody knows, you and I have always disliked each other for years and years. You know what I have thought of you and you have made it clear all along what you didn't want me in the Cabinet and only took me in, after my defeat in Vancouver, because of the pressure of the Prime Minister, which at that time had not quite decayed beyond recognition, and still carried up to go with you to London to the World Economic Conference, and had even bought myself a new overcoat and some pearl grey spats, you left me behind and took that fellow Rhodes, who has been so humiliated through the Finance Department with a general look for four years without ever suspecting that he has left Nova Scotia.

"From the very beginning, as you know, I took pains to disassociate myself publicly with the chief policies of the government by making speeches in favor of silver coinage and a lot of other radical stuff which I knew would appeal. I could see from the beginning that only a radical programme would serve and, since the government wouldn't follow it, I shaped a programme of my own. This, as you point out in your previous letter, is known as the old British principle of cabinet solidarity. In what way of its anatomy the solidarity of this cabinet centre, I do not need to point out to you, but clearly it is well above the collar line.

CLEVER SPEECH

WELL, I waited my time. I waited until you had gone out to Vancouver and then I bought a ticket for Toronto and made a speech, I do not myself that was a mighty clever speech. I made such an attack on Big Business and promised that we would do much about it, that you were clearly in a jam when you came back to Ottawa. If you went ahead and investigated Big Business, you would be attacking all those charming fellows who had always been your best supporters and whose help it election times, in many ways, is a consideration which no political party can afford to overlook. On the other hand, if you fired me, the populace would rise up and say I was crucified because I was trying to drive the money-changers out of the temple. So I had no hesitation in submitting my resignation to you on January 10 last, knowing very well you couldn't accept it. You didn't, of course, but I kept a file for future reference, taking care to mention that your attitude was dictated by the Ratons. I knew that you would look pretty neat in type at the proper time.

"At this time, of course, it was quite clear that the government was ruined. Anybody but you and your colleagues could see it. You were too busy rushing about saving the empire and awarding titles. The others didn't count—Rhodes still unemployed, Guthrie frozen like a magnificent statue of Justice and just as useful politically, making speeches like a firecracker in a tin washtub, and the others—well, I forget the names of the others, as you do.

... those we are anxious to serve. The difference in the amount purchased in no way affects the service rendered.

HE LOOKED AHEAD

WELL, THE government being ruined, I looked ahead. The election would end your career, Governments don't last long these days. So I developed my own policy. I became more radical than the Liberals. I was soon swinging the government by the tail and making it imagine that it had turned to the left. "Finally I made a speech before a study club and, somehow, by a most fortunate accident—much against my wishes, of course—the darn thing leaked. It leaked in a most remarkable fashion into all the leading newspaper offices on the same day. I don't need to tell you that I didn't intend this speech to get out, and for that reason allowed some copies of it to be mimeographed so that it might be better kept secret. Imagine my regret when it was published! Imagine it, my dear Dick.

Once that was out, of course, I knew the boys in Toronto and Montreal would begin to howl and you would wake up from your dream of a dukedom across the sea and fire me. That was just what I wanted. For then I would be a national hero, the friend of the Forgotten Man and you would be only the friend of the big fellows. The Cabinet protested, you spluttered and I resigned. My letter of resignation, tying you up to Ratons and Simpons was, I think you will admit, rather a masterpiece. At least I thought so.

"Now we both should be well satisfied. You can have your earldom at earliest convenience and I will be sitting pretty after the election. What could be sweeter? Again let me express my appreciation of the fine co-operation you have given me in my entire campaign from beginning to end. Without a man like you in charge, frankly, I couldn't have done it."

THE REPLY

MY DEAR STEVENS: Your letter, just to hand, explains the situation exactly. As you say, the government is now sinking, and I congratulate you as the first respondent to escape to the shore.

"As you say, I have been too pre-occupied to see just where we have been going lately. At the start I thought that a little tone of radicalism wouldn't do the government any harm for, after all, the public clamor must be subdued somehow. But I was up to find that already the Conservative Party has gone so far to the left that the Liberals are away off over the horizon to the right, and the C.C.F. looks a pretty pink. You can imagine my embarrassment, for example, when I found that in the new Marketing Act we had arranged to establish a system of Communism in many lines of business. That was more of your doing."

"And then, first thing I know, you had started to crucify all our good friends in business, the boys who put us here and would keep us here if we only showed them a little concern. This was too much. I could stand a lot from you. I could endure it when you ran about the country talking inflation, while I was running around talking sound money. Under the principle of Cabinet solidarity, that could be excused, but

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By ALINE MICHAELS

LIFE MOVES IN CIRCLES
Life moves in circles and all meaning change
Is but the glitter of the turning wheel.
For there is no new thing and nothing strange
Does the long passage of the years reveal.
There is no change. The Grecian Idylls
Was clear as yours when she was glad and young.
Though now, between the pages of a book
Her story dwells in a neglected tongue.
Life moves in circles. Helen once was fair
As you today, for Paris' eyes to see
You too, for mine, and on your cheek you wear
No brighter beauty's banner than did she.
Life could doubt your like has been Seen before, and yours will be again.
Life wheels like stars, what has been Comes once more!

HARD WINTER AHEAD?

To the Editor:—Predictions of all sorts are being made on the score of a winter we are going to have. Local weather men and eminent professional prophets in the east, also amateurs and even the ground-hog, all agree that a cold winter is coming. The chief reason we doubt that we are in for a hard winter is because everybody is predicting one.

In the east it is predicted that this winter is to be the worst in history and one weather man foresees a cycle of twenty-five cold and wet years ahead. Still in Victoria we need not worry. Last year authorities predicted that we would have what to us would be a cold season, and it proved to be one of the mildest in many years. Of course, winter in Victoria has never been what you could call severe as compared with those of eastern Canada. Even now some of these cities have had heavy snowstorms but so far we in Victoria have yet to experience a fall of snow or even a heavy frost.

Twenty-five Years Ago To-day

THE VICTORIA DAILY TIMES
NOVEMBER 1, 1909
(From The Times Files)

Captain M. Kinloch Smith, late of the 9th Lancers, formerly member in the British House of Commons for Strathclyde, has just been elected to the city, a member of the city council.

While occupying the office of local government, taking the portfolio of lands.

The building returns for the month of October are $104,000, compared with $69,750 for October of last year. On Saturday evening the Hallowe'en celebration of St. George's School for girls took place in the school-room, and a happy evening was spent by all.

The contract for the building of the new Columbia Coast Mission church for service on this coast, in connection with the mission work of the Anglican Church, has just been signed by the Westminster Marine Railway.

It is never later than 6 o'clock in San Marino, a tiny republic in Italy, where the day is divided into quarters and no clock ever strikes more than six times.

The white population of Porto Rico is estimated at between 70 and 80 per cent.

Schooling For Men On Relief In Camps

Instruction in Elementary, High School and Technical Subjects Will Be Given Through Correspondence Courses; Schools May Be Established if Needed

Under a scheme to rehabilitate men in unemployment camps by widening their knowledge and renewing their interests, the Department of Education will offer free correspondence courses to them, and, if necessary, send in special tutors, Hon. G. M. Weir, Minister of Education, announced today.

Instruction in elementary, high school and technical subjects will be provided through the correspondence department, the minister said. Where the response is sufficient to justify the expenditure, the department will provide tutors at certain camps, working on the principal of "Frontier College," which has teachers living right among the men.

Military authorities have agreed to construct school houses at important points if there is sufficient enrollment. At the same time the minister announced two centres were being opened in Vancouver for instruction in automobile mechanics and carpentry and joinery, widening the scope of classes started there last year for unemployed youths who were not in camps.

The policy was evolved at a conference here between Dr. Weir and officials of the education department and General E. C. Ashton, O.C. for Military District No. 1, and military officials.

IMPORTANT PROBLEM

"One of the most important problems in the community to-day is that of dealing with the unemployment camps in which thousands of men of all ages and of all grades of intelligence are to be found," Dr. Weir said, in making the announcement.

"It is to be feared," he added, "that no spirit of romance permeates the camps, who, through the exigencies of the times, are compelled to undertake what are known to the authorities as projects."

First step in launching the plan will be to send questionnaires to the men, asking who wish to enrol and which subjects they will desire to take, the minister explained.

5,000 MEN INVOLVED
At present there are roughly 5,000 men in the camps.

The correspondence courses, Dr.

Weir said, will be handled through three different branches. Miss Isabel Besocky, of the department here, will have charge of the elementary curriculum. Under her direction lessons will be offered in the following subjects: English, arithmetic, geography and history.

J. W. Gibson, also of the department, will handle the high school subjects, leading to junior matriculation and the university. These include English literature, grammar and composition, history and civics, arithmetic, algebra and geometry, French, Latin, chemistry, physics, biology, agriculture and geography and technical subjects, which include mechanical drawing, engineering drawing, building construction, a general course in electricity, shorthand, bookkeeping and accountancy practice.

TECHNICAL COURSES
The department will also assist financially in the courses offered to men in camps by the staff of the technical school in Vancouver. Last year this staff gave free services and the work accomplished was admitted to be a great success. It will be continued with F. Fairley, vice-principal of the technical school in charge. This service will take applicants for the following courses: Drafting, carpenter's steel square work, an advanced electrical course, technical mathematics for industrial workers, automotive engineering (including ignition and gears).

"The primary intention of these studies," the minister said, "is to furnish tuition by correspondence in those subjects which can be effectively taught in that manner and from which men can derive lasting benefit. It will not be necessary for students to have previous knowledge of the subject chosen. If the course calls for simple equipment an effort will be made to furnish it."

MINING INSTRUCTION
Dr. Weir drew attention to other extra educational facilities being offered by the department. Free classes in mining instruction, carried on as a joint effort by the department of education and mines drew a total enrollment of 2,198.

A full complement of students was expected for the classes in automobile mechanics, carpentry and joinery to be established in Vancouver, he said. A special school for teaching the English language to the foreign-born had also been opened there.

H. Bridgers, Builder, President and Manager of East Carolina Line, Here

The East Carolina Railway is a system but sixty miles long, operating between Toronto and Snow Hill, and acting as a feeder to the Atlantic Coast and Norfolk and Southern trunk lines in the Blue Ridge mountain country. Its builder, owner, president and general manager, Henry Clark Bridgers, was a visitor to Victoria today.

"The East Carolina is the only road on the entire continent now in the hands of the man who built it," declared Mr. Bridgers in an interview.

HAS SHORTEST RAILWAY LINE

H. Bridgers, Builder, President and Manager of East Carolina Line, Here

The East Carolina Railway is a system but sixty miles long, operating between Toronto and Snow Hill, and acting as a feeder to the Atlantic Coast and Norfolk and Southern trunk lines in the Blue Ridge mountain country. Its builder, owner, president and general manager, Henry Clark Bridgers, was a visitor to Victoria today.

"The East Carolina is the only road on the entire continent now in the hands of the man who built it," declared Mr. Bridgers in an interview.

At the Empress Hotel this morning before leaving for Shawinigan Lake.

STOOD ON OWN FEET
The line was built in 1900, and up to 1901 it stood on its own feet and filled every obligation, but during the last three years, in common with other and larger railway systems, it has been seriously affected by depleted revenues.

A regular passenger and freight service is run daily, and the towns tapped by the system are Henrietta, Davisburg, Pinetops, Macclesfield, Fountains and Farmville.

A practical railroad, Mr. Bridgers speaks against his own interests in offering solution to the existing railroad situation, with particular respect to short lines.

He comes right out and states that short lines should be absorbed by lodge or trunk lines and the feeder services maintained by trucks and buses. He suggests single control for transportation under some form of commission with trunk lines being required to give adequate facilities by motorized vehicles on the short routes.

COMPETITION NEEDED
He is strongly opposed to consolidation of railroads, asserting that competition is the secret of all business functions.

"Immediately you do away with competition," he said, the public suffers.

The NRA does away with competition in the United States with its established prices. It does away with initiative. That's why I am opposed to it."

Mr. Bridgers is being entertained by C. D. Magill of Shawinigan Lake and he hopes to see a great deal of Vancouver Island while he is here.

He likes the people and the country here because it is more like North Carolina, where life is not so strenuous and where flowers bloom irrespective of the seasons.

Appreciation of the city for a donation of valuable records and a bookcase, by John Dean, city clerk, today by Frank Hunter, city clerk.

Mr. Hunter stated Mr. Dean had given the city a copy of the 1901 Dominion census, missing from the city's collection, as well as many valuable year books and a bookcase. They would prove valuable additions to the civic library, he stated.

TO LECTURE ON "GRAND CANYONS"

Miss Avis Lobdell of Portland, Ore., will give an illustrated travel talk on "Byes, Zion and the Grand Canyons" under the auspices of the Eagles Young Men's Club to-morrow evening at 8 o'clock, at the First United Church. This is Miss Lobdell's second speaking appearance in Victoria. She spoke before a large audience last June and is returning by popular demand.

Miss Lobdell has just concluded a lecture tour of the Pacific Coast and has been the featured speaker before service clubs, chambers of commerce and travel organizations. She comes to Victoria with many new slides, all of which are in natural colors. The slides show clearly the many bizarre rock formations for which the Grand Canyons are famous.

Among the outstanding rock formations to be shown by Miss Lobdell are the "Temple of Sinevava," "The Great White Throne," "Queen Victoria" and "The Cathedral." A musical programme by talented artists has been arranged.

WIDE FIELD IN SHEEP FARMING

"In the province we only supply forty per cent of the local mutton consumption, so there is a wide field for development as far as sheep are concerned," declared William Harrison, president of the British Columbia Sheep Breeders' Association, who has been in conference with the Provincial Marketing Board regarding a scheme to cover the sheep industry. "There is no country in the world freer from sheep diseases than British Columbia," he continued, and the higher summer ranges in the interior are just about perfect. The only hindrance to sheep ranching is the unstable market.

There were 170,000 sheep and lambs in the province, according to this sheep breeder. The Heron Brothers of Cherry Creek near Kamloops were the largest ranchers with about 12,000 sheep. But the present price between producers and consumers was below the cost of production.

FIVE PER CENT EXPORTED

Only five per cent of the mutton produced in the province was exported, but ninety-five per cent of the wool was shipped outside the province.

Sheepmen unanimously desired to come under the Marketing Act, stated Mr. Harrison. They had been suffering from cut-throat competition both from outside sources and within the province. The bulk of their produce had been unsold between August and October, thus breaking the market.

Under a marketing scheme they hoped to regulate this, and to extend the limited supply over a longer period. They also hoped to co-operate with prairie sheepmen as far as marketing was concerned. British Columbia was Alberta's chief market for sheep and last year Alberta shipped approximately 68,000 sheep into the province.

GOOD BREEDERS ON ISLAND

"I think that most of the island is suitable for sheep ranching," said Mr. Harrison, "and you have some very fine pure bred sheep here and some good breeders. However, it is difficult to beat the interior. There are feed the sheep in the home ranches during the winter, but them on the lower range during the spring, then pasture them 3,000 feet up above the timber line, on the summer ranges in the hot weather, and finally bring them back to the lower ranges in the fall."

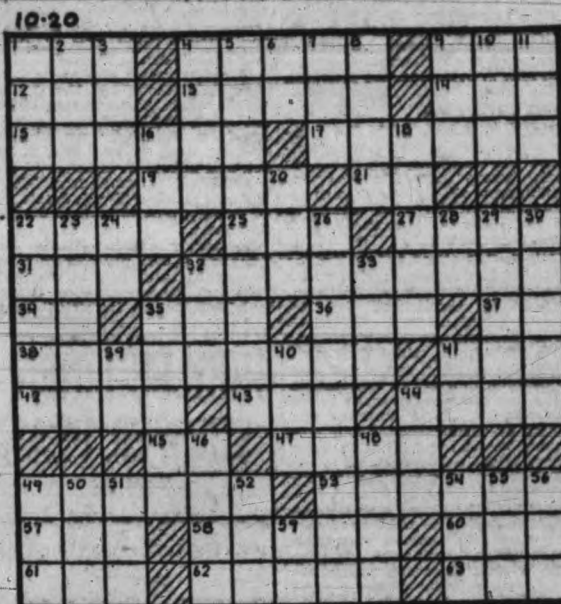

Mr. Harrison is the official delegate from the British Columbia Sheep Breeders' Association to the Marketing Board. The scheme which he has presented has been accepted except for a few changes which he is making at the request of the board.

OUT OUR WAY

Hockey Gossip

When Tommy Gorman departed from Chicago he must have left behind some of the confident spirit that has helped make him a great hockey manager. His 1934 edition of Chicago Black Hawks were cocky enough, but this year's team is asking already what other team but Toronto Leafs can keep up with them.

Perhaps it was because owner Frederick McLaughlin was looking on, but when they had finished an hour's tough workout at Champaign, Ill., yesterday and Clem Loughlin waved them to the showers, they protested violently.

Their new manager feels that when a team can work up that much enthusiasm a week before the scheduled opening, they have great chances of going places. And confidence, he believes, is not out of place among world champions.

If Montreal Canadiens had any doubts about themselves after being beaten 2 to 1 by Boston Bruins in an exhibition game Monday night, they probably banished them after they whipped Frank Patrick's team 7 to 6 at Moncton yesterday evening.

Wildor Laroche, who is working on a line with Aurel Joliat and Ete Lapine, now broke up the game after almost eight minutes of overtime with a brilliant goal and scored another in the first period. Big Ned Stewart was Bruins' scoring act with two goals.

While Hawks seemingly cannot get enough practice, Eddie Gerard's St. Louis Eagles are going stale on him, and he ordered a layoff to-day. The former Ottawa Senators started training in Ottawa and have had a long season of it.

Young Normie Smith is giving John Ross Roach a battle for the goalie's job left vacant when Canadians recalled Wilf Cude, and both will be used to-night against the Torontonians, while Adams gets a further line on their work.

The Toronto team has an ambitious exhibition programme with a game in London Saturday night, another at Syracuse Sunday, and a third at Toronto Monday.

New York Rangers and Montreal Maroons play again at Winnipeg to-night, and will leave over the weekend for St. Paul, where they stage a two-game series. They go from there to St. Louis, where Rangers open November 19 and Maroons November 15.

Vegetable Control Board for Vancouver Island Considered at Duncan

Special to The Times
Duncan, Nov. 1.—Vancouver Island potato and vegetable growers are meeting at Duncan on Saturday afternoon to endeavor to form a potato and vegetable control board for Vancouver Island under the Natural Products Marketing Act.

Hon. K. O. MacDonald, Minister of Agriculture, will be present to explain the Marketing Act. At a meeting held in Nanaimo a short time ago a memorandum of organization was approved, which was to be submitted to the producers in the various districts on Vancouver Island to give them an opportunity to protect the formation of a control board should they be opposed to same.

Considerable doubt exists as to the workability of the proposed control board, and a number of protests have been lodged. It is expected the Minister of Agriculture will be able to clarify the situation.

It is estimated that in western reserves oil-soaked layers of shale clay contain more than 100,000,000,000 barrels of oil. All that remains to get at this oil is to invent a process to release it from the shale.

The chorus of greeting was supplemented by Mrs. J. D. Gordon, Provincial W.I. president, who touched upon some of the problems facing rural women, in connection with those in the urban communities, urging them to bend their best united efforts to the solution of these problems.

LEGISLATION REVIEWED
J. B. Munro, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, was the chief speaker at this morning's session, dealing with legislation of particular interest to institute women.

A new act known as the Female Minimum Wage Act has repealed the former Minimum Wage Act in respect to women. This deals with wages for women, and on the Board of Industrial Relations, which administers this act, Mrs. Rex Eaton of Vancouver has recently succeeded Judge Helen Gregory McGill, who has been reinstated to her former position of judge of the juvenile court in Vancouver.

"We have also had other legislation dealing with the hours of work, but he most Women's Institute members are known to be consistent breakers of any such laws, either as to hours worked or wages received by them, possibly the less said on this point the better," the speaker commented humorously.

HOME WEAVING
Reference was made to the legislation dealing with natural products, the Canadian Farm Loan Act and also with the operations of the Federal Marketing Board and the commodity board established in British Columbia to facilitate the export of apples to other provinces. Similar measures are being considered in the milk and sheep marketing districts. Mrs. Munro congratulated the institutes on their efforts to encourage the home spinning, knitting and weaving industry, showing how it had assisted the sheep-farming throughout the province. He displayed a number of interesting examples of home weaving.

THE DELEGATES
Among the delegates in attendance at the conference are the following: the name of the Institute appearing first: Cedar, Mrs. J. Michael; Cobble Hill, Mrs. B. A. McMillan and Mrs.

Mr. and Mrs. William Elliott, who have been spending the last few months at their summer home at Aspen Beach, Alberta, left there a few days ago for their home in this city. They were accompanied by Miss Pyle of Lacombe, Alta., who will spend the winter months as their guest.

The Baroness Dorothea von Fritsch of Germany, who was a visitor to Victoria last summer, has returned here, and is a guest at the Dominion Hotel. She is a well-known world traveler, invariably taking passage on tramp steamers.

Mr. Justice H. R. Robertson, who has been spending the summer in town, returned to Victoria on Saturday. Mrs. Robertson will leave shortly for Tepee Lodge, Montana, to visit her daughter, Mrs. Poynter, for the next few weeks, and on her return will take up residence at the Empress Hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Beasley entertained a number of young guests at a Halloween party at their home on Hampshire Road yesterday evening in honor of their daughter, Patricia, the reception rooms being appropriately decorated with Halloween novelties. Dancing was enjoyed by the young guests, among whom were: Misses Phyllis Pooley, Gwen Wright, Joy Nixon, Helen Baird, Joan Cudemore, Gladys Beasley, Rosanna Gillespie, Muriel Craig, Lillian and Virginia Ryan and Masters "Sandy" Hunter, Robert Watson, Harold Horne, Alan McPherson, George Gregory, John Yarrow, Trevor Davis, Ronald Johns, William, Herbert and Dick Brown.

Bowden, Wark Street, with a cup and saucer shower for Miss Gladys Elliott, a November bride-to-be. The gifts were concealed in a large, beautifully decorated cup and saucer. The chorus of greeting was supplemented by Mrs. J. D. Gordon, Provincial W.I. president, who touched upon some of the problems facing rural women, in connection with those in the urban communities, urging them to bend their best united efforts to the solution of these problems.

LEGISLATION REVIEWED
J. B. Munro, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, was the chief speaker at this morning's session, dealing with legislation of particular interest to institute women.

A new act known as the Female Minimum Wage Act has repealed the former Minimum Wage Act in respect to women. This deals with wages for women, and on the Board of Industrial Relations, which administers this act, Mrs. Rex Eaton of Vancouver has recently succeeded Judge Helen Gregory McGill, who has been reinstated to her former position of judge of the juvenile court in Vancouver.

"We have also had other legislation dealing with the hours of work, but he most Women's Institute members are known to be consistent breakers of any such laws, either as to hours worked or wages received by them, possibly the less said on this point the better," the speaker commented humorously.

HOME WEAVING
Reference was made to the legislation dealing with natural products, the Canadian Farm Loan Act and also with the operations of the Federal Marketing Board and the commodity board established in British Columbia to facilitate the export of apples to other provinces. Similar measures are being considered in the milk and sheep marketing districts. Mrs. Munro congratulated the institutes on their efforts to encourage the home spinning, knitting and weaving industry, showing how it had assisted the sheep-farming throughout the province. He displayed a number of interesting examples of home weaving.

DENY RUMOR OF BETROTHAL

Lord Londonderry's Daughter Not to Marry ex-King Alfonso's Son

Paris, Nov. 1.—Waxing and waning rumors of a royal marriage have been quashed by the official denial of the Count of Covadonga, daughter of Lord Londonderry, British Air Minister, and Lady Londonderry, who reported at the same time that rumor said the Count of Covadonga had parted from his Cuban commoner bride of sixteen months.

There was the oft-recurring rumor, too, that ex-King Alfonso was about ready to separate from former Queen Victoria.

Because Julia, Alfonso's only other living son, is deaf and dumb, and has renounced his right to the throne, monarchist refugees in Paris last night expressed consternation at the prospect that the succession to the crown would be interrupted.

London, Nov. 1.—Lady Helen Stewart, daughter of Lord and Lady Londonderry, denied to-day, as did her parents, that she is planning to marry Prince Don Juan, heir to the vacant Spanish throne.

Said Lady Helen Magdonas, Vane Tempest Stewart herself: "It is ridiculous. I cannot understand how the report can have originated. There is no engagement."

Rome, Nov. 1.—A spokesman for former King Alfonso of Spain tonight expressed the opinion there was no truth in reports from Paris that the King's eldest son, the Count of Covadonga, was planning to divorce his Cuban wife.

He said the reports reached the King's party only through the press, and he considered them absurd. The spokesman also denied rumors that the former ruler's third son, Don Juan Carlos, was engaged to

Mrs. J. L. Crimp reported two successful sawing meetings in October, and Mrs. E. Taylor, convener of membership, reported dues received from Mrs. McBride, Mrs. Sayward-Wilson, Mrs. P. H. Leach, Mrs. Russell Robertson, Mrs. G. H. Barnard and Mrs. G. E. Scott. The auxiliary authorized the payment of bills amounting to $409 for one bedpan sterilizer and one instrument sterilizer.

Miss Mitchell asked for twenty-four yards of easement for curtains for rooms on the fourth floor. Mrs. H. H. Shandley and Mrs. H. Billings were appointed to fill vacancies on the executive.

Mrs. E. H. Oliver, delegate to the hospital's convention, gave an interesting report of the meetings, and Mrs. Hermann Robertson reported in detail on the recent Hospital Ball, which netted $600, to be divided equally between the Senior and Junior Auxiliaries. The meeting rendered its hearty thanks to all who had contributed in any way to the success of the ball, with a special word to those who gave space in their windows and who made posters for the occasion.

After the meeting the members were shown round the hospital by Dr. T. W. Walker, the superintendent, the kitchen, storerooms, laundry, refrigerators and parts of the fourth floor, the inspection being of great interest.

Guides Enjoyed
Hallowe'en Party

Girl guides of the Lady Douglas Company celebrated the nineteenth anniversary of the founding of the company with a fancy dress Hallowe'en birthday party at their headquarters, at which they entertained as guests of honor Miss Hilda Leighton, Mrs. R. B. McKinnon, Miss Mc-
Mullin and Miss Frank.

A pleasing feature of the proceedings was the presentation, made on behalf of the company by the captain, Miss Ryan, of a Cherry etching to Miss Leighton, as a mark of appreciation for all that she has done for the company, which was organized by her and of which she was the first captain.

A brief address followed from Mrs.
McKinnon, who represented the Lady Douglas Chapter I.O.G.E. The speaker touched on the history of guiding in Victoria, and paid tribute to Miss Leighton for the active part she has taken in establishing the movement
over twenty-one years ago.

In reply Miss Leighton spoke of the undying interest shown by the Lady Douglas Chapter, who had
"adopted" the company and generously encouraged the work in every way.

Some very quaint and original costumes were worn, and the customary Hallowe'en witches, bats and ghosts were to be seen.
After the march past games were played, and later a buffet supper was served. The table was decorated in the Hallowe'en motif, and centered with a large birthday cake, with thirteen candles, made and decorated by Miss Glibb, lieutenant. Miss Leighton was accorded the honor of cutting the cake and "wishing" for the company.

EMPRESS HAD MERRY PARTY

Two Hundred Guests Danced
and Enjoyed Hallowe'en
Cabaret Last Night

Two hundred merry guests
danced in the Crystal ballroom of the Empress Hotel last night
in celebration of Hallowe'en.
It was a particularly gay setting with two tiers of tables filled with animated people, grouped
about the sides of the ballroom,
with the centre space reserved
for dancing and the presentation of cabaret acts.

The decorative scheme was designed to give the traditional spookhouse effect, with glowing black cats with blazing green eyes prowling
about the ornate dais and walls,
and immense ghost-like skeletons
hovering in the background.

The guest tables were attractively
arranged with baby yellow and bronze chrysanthemums and orange and black paper streamers.
Exceeded amid a screen of flowers and fern, the Empress Orchestra directed by Billy Tickle, offering the latest dance numbers, drew the appreciation of the crowd and was liberal with encores.

FINE ENTERTAINMENT

The cabaret programme was a most entertaining one. Thea Acherman was given a big hand in the opening number, in which she gave a jazz tap dance, arrayed in a strikingly appropriate black sequin costume.

The spirit of Hallowe'en was expressed in snappy fashion by The Hallowe'en Girls, Kathleen O'Brien, David Webb, Kathleen Mann and Helen Beck. The adagio classic was cleverly interpreted by Thea Stratford and Jimmy Watt.

The floor-acts were brought to a brilliant termination with a black and silver chorus in dazzling costume and composed of Queens Spencer, Kathleen O'Brien, Marjorie Peden, Edna Irving, Lulu Bond,
David Webb, Thea Stratford,
Kathleen Mann, Winnifred Fallick, Hilda Jacques, Isabel McAlpine and Frances Borden.

JAPANESE PEER IS BRIDEGROOM

Former Toronto Girl Bride
at Elaborate Ceremony
in Tokio

Canadian Press
Tokyo, Nov. 1.—A Miss Momiji
Ukukata, socially prominent Japanese girl of Tokio with Canadian antecedents, has been married with full formal Shinto ritual to Viscount Mochizuki Fujinami, a member of the Japanese peerage and a corporation director.

The bride is a daughter of Shigasato Ukukata, prominent Yokohama
business man and formerly of Toronto. She was born in Toronto and her parents christened her Momiji, which is Japanese for Maple. In compliment to the land of her birth, she attended St. Mark's School in Parkdale and Trinity Hall in Toronto.

The wedding was one of the most interesting social events of the year.
The Shinto ceremony was performed
at the Tokio branch of the Isewa Temple, in western Japan, one of the greatest and most ancient shrines in Japan.

The reception, held at the Tokio
Kathari, scene of many memorable Canadian functions, was attended by some 400 guests, including Prime Minister Admiral Okada and other prominent Japanese ambassadors and ministers and members of the Canadian and other foreign communities here.

Viscountess Fujinami, who has been reared in western culture, was attired for her wedding in elaborate kimono—one of heavy black silk crepe with symbolic designs in color, with a broad silk obi, and in a kimono of pale blue, with gold brocade obi for the reception.
Viscount Fujinami is a son of the late Viscount Matsudaira, but was adopted into the Fujinami family, which lacked an heir. He has two children, the eldest twenty years old,
by a former marriage.

Your Baby and Mine

BY MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

It is unjust to mete out angry punishment to a child for the accidental breaking of his toys. In the natural course of events all toys find their way to the ash can and others take their place.

Wanton destruction of toys may appear to be a sign of discipline but this situation too may need honest criticism rather than that mis-named
"good" spanking.

The toy themselves may be too frail for ordinary rough usage. They may be so complex as to have no interest for the child, and thus inspire no other use than to pull them
apart or throw them around.

The too simple toy arouses the child's contempt. It has lost whatever amusement value it might have once possessed and he tears it to pieces to see what makes it go.

No toy has any value when the child is surfeited with a wealth of them. He is bewildered by the choices offered him to play with and goes temporarily berserk, getting some excitement out of throwing them to the four winds, listening to the "crash" of glass, the "crunch" of cracking wood and the clearing out of his crowded domain.

DESTRUCTION FOR REVENGE

Toys, unfortunately, may seem to represent their giver and if the child hears an inner animosity to that individual the destruction of the toy seems to him imperative.

Children harbor grievances against brothers and sisters and find an outlet for their emotion by destroying that child's precious possessions.
Children may break toys given them
by a mother who systematically shows partiality to some other child in the family. The child's hurt jealousy makes wanton destruction of the mother's gifts essential to his peace of mind. He's paying her back.

PUNISHMENT WON'T DO

lems are offered in my leaflet, "How

ment that no punishment will end

The Clue of The Forgotten Murder

By CARLETON KENDRAKE
Copyright, 1934, NEA Service Inc.

Sidney Griff jumped to his feet, dropped the cigarette into an ash tray. His lazy relaxation had vanished as completely as a cloud wiped drifting from the edge of a snow-capped mountain out over a dry desert.

"And I claim to be a criminologist!" he exclaimed.

"What's the matter?" Bleeker inquired.

"I study crime," he said. "I study the modes and methods of operation. I study the habits of criminals. In these card indexes you'll find details of every major crime for half a century. The big embellements! The big murders! The big hold-ups! Crimes of passion! Crimes of deliberation! Crimes of violence!"

"I've concentrated for years on the best methods of getting quick results in criminal cases, and here an ordinary newspaper reporter thinks of something that has entirely escaped my mind!"

"What do you mean?" Bleeker asked. "I don't see it. I don't get the sketch."

"The garage," said Griff, striding up and down the long room, flinging the words over his shoulder without turning his head. "It's a new city ordinance, of course, but I should have thought of its possibilities."

"I don't follow you," Bleeker remarked. "Do you think you know what Morden had in mind? What he was doing?"

"Of course I know what he had in mind and what he was doing!" Griff said, turning on his heel and striding back toward Bleeker, making fierce, impatient gestures with his hands as he walked, emphasizing his words with little jabs of his extended right forefinger. "It's a new city ordinance, the one that requires garages to turn in the license numbers of all cars that are stored in the garage over night. It was sponsored by the automobile insurance companies in order to give the police a chance to check up on stolen cars. Every public garage has to submit such a report."

"I still don't see it," Bleeker said, "what you're driving at."

"Morden," said Griff, "wanted to check up on what Cathay was doing in the city. Remember that he wasn't sent out to check up on the man who had assumed Cathay's identity. He was sent out to check up on Cathay. You wanted to get something that would put Cathay on the defensive. Very well, Morden found out Cathay had been here in the city on Monday night. Cathay's business was somewhat mysterious. Morden wanted to find out what it was. He got the license number of Cathay's automobile and checked down through the numbers that were reported of cars stored in public garages."

"It was probably a tedious job, but he found the car number, found that Cathay's car had been stored in the garage that was the corner of Robinson and Huntley. From there he got a lead that took him direct to the Elite Apartments. He went there and found that Alice Lorton or rather Ordway, as the case may be, wasn't in. So he went out and ran down another lead and then returned, and decided that he'd wait."

Bleeker nodded his head in slow affirmation.

"Yes," he said, "when you express it that way, it's logical enough."

"Now then," Griff said, "having established that this young man, Morden, pulled a long envelope from his pocket, took from it the stiff yellow paper statement of a bank balance, with machine stamped figures on the margin."

Griff reached forward, took the envelope and the folded statement from Bleeker's hands, crossed to a table, sat down and spread out the envelope. His face lit with satisfaction.

"Ah," he said, "a young woman who is out of work, and yet she makes rather large deposits. A deposit of $500. Then one of $750! And here's one of $2,000!"

He picked up the cheques one by one, suddenly stared at one of them. Bleeker spoke impatiently. "That's the only one that counts," he said. "It's a cheque payable to Kenneth Boone, for the entire balance on hand. It means out the account."

Griff nodded slowly. "The cheque," he said, "is dated on the day Charles Morden was murdered."

Bleeker took a letter from his pocket.

"Here," he said, "is a letter from the bank, stating that in pursuance of telephoned instructions they are sending her her canceled cheques and statement showing that the account had been closed out."

Griff took the letter.

"And," Bleeker pointed out, "the date of the telephone conversation is the day following Morden's murder."

Griff studied the letter, with his forehead in furrows of scowling concentration.

"If," Bleeker said, "we only had some way of locating this Kenneth Boone we could..."

Morden, was a logical worker and a fast worker, the question arises why he went to Ninth and Central."

"Probably some other lead," Bleeker said. "But how did he get it?"

Griff shrugged his shoulders.

"No matter," he said. "I'll run that down a little later. In the meantime we've got a live lead on this garage business. Suppose you have one of your men run over to the garage with a picture of Morden. Find out if Morden wasn't there making inquiries about the car that was registered in the name of Frank B. Cathay of Riverview. You can get that registration number by checking up the records in the Motor Vehicle Registration department. You can put through a telephone call and get that information."

"Now?" asked Bleeker.

Griff nodded.

"Let's get that disposed of," he said, "before we go any farther. I want a check on that. It's going to make quite a difference in the way we handle this thing."

He jerked his head toward a desk telephone.

"You can use that telephone," he said.

CHAPTER XXV

While Bleeker was telephoning, Sidney Griff paced restlessly up and down the apartment. His head was aching. His eyes were squinted in thought. He seemed utterly oblivious of Dan Bleeker and of the telephone instructions Bleeker was giving to his newspaper. When Bleeker had hung up the telephone and returned to his chair Griff suddenly whirled on him.

"How about putting them on that Elite Apartment to shadow whoever came out? Did you do it?"

Bleeker looked crestfallen.

"I did it," he said, "but I'm afraid I did it too late. I didn't consider it was of prime importance. I sent men out there. After all, you know, we're running a newspaper and while I'm going to move heaven and earth to get this thing cleared up, we haven't got men to scatter around the city, just on the hope something may turn up."

"So," said Griff softly and with an ominous calm, "you let her get away from you. Is that right?"

"No," said Griff, "she was already gone. There was no use watching the place after she'd left, except to get a line on someone who might come there and I couldn't see how we could find out just who was going to her apartment and who was going to the apartment of some other person. At any rate, the apartment is empty and the man is watching. It's Alice Lorton who has left. My men report there's no one in the apartment."

"So," said Griff, "you're making a snoring, explosive sound."

"Well," he said, "we'll let it pass. I'll tell you more about that after a while. What else have you got?"

"The mail," Bleeker said. "I can't understand it."

"What about it?"

"We got a wonderful catch," he said. "I'm afraid we're going to have trouble about it. There's going to be trouble with the postal authorities."

"That's all a matter of history now. It's been done," Griff said impatiently. "What did you get?"

"We got Esther Ordway's banking statement with the canceled cheques. It had been mailed to her by her bank, apparently in response to a request she had telephoned in."

"Ah," said Sidney Griff, and his tone contained the purring satisfaction of some huge cat that has just been given a dish of raw liver.

"Ah-h-h-h," he said again, and rubbed his hands together.

Bleeker pulled a long envelope from his pocket, took from it the stiff yellow paper statement of a bank balance, with machine stamped figures on the margin.

Griff reached forward, took the envelope and the folded statement from Bleeker's hands, crossed to a table, sat down and spread out the envelope. His face lit with satisfaction.

Drama Association Has Grown Rapidly

Report States Sixty-three Little Theatre Groups Are Now Affiliated in Province; Major L. Bullock-Webster Re-elected President

Major L. Bullock-Webster, for many years one of the chief supporters of drama in Victoria, was yesterday evening re-elected president of the British Columbia Drama Festival Association by acclamation, at the association's annual meeting held in the City Hall. This is Major Bullock-Webster's fourth year of office.

A special tribute to the work carried out by the president during the last year was paid by members of the association in passing a vote of thanks.

Other officers were re-elected as follows: Vice-president, Herbert E. Pott; secretary, H. Roy Goldfinch; and treasurer, Harold G. Hinton. These officers will convene shortly to select the association's executive.

ANNOUNCE DATE
The next drama festival, it was announced by the president, will be held in the Shrine Auditorium from April 28 to May 4 next.

In presenting the treasurer's report, Mr. Hinton said the bank balance on hand had been increased from last year's figure of $68.00 to $235.54. A vote of thanks was passed to Mr. Hinton for his work.

In addition to the elected officers, the following members of the executive were present at the meeting: Mrs. Hugh Nixon, Mrs. Reese-Burns, W. A. Semple, H. S. Hurn and C. D. H. Freer.

A number of districts in which the association has affiliated groups were represented by proxy at the meeting as follows: Rev. G. S. Cassmore, Rolla; Miss Disha Copen, Larch Hill; Alma Hewitt, Prince George; Frederick Fullerton, Memorial Players, Vancouver; Margaret Warner, Smithers; Vera Frank, Terrace; Ann Boyd Knill, Vancouver; Kathleen Kromle, Powell River; S. O. Harries, Williams Lake; Alexander Ramsey, Comox; Joseph Beal, Rutland; Elsie Graham, Nanaimo; W. S. Schottfield, Salmon Arm; Clifford G. Brown, New Westminster; James Gordon, Kitimat; Winifred P. Kennedy, Penticton; Major M. V. McGuire, Vernon; Barbara Hall, Vancouver; L. M. Turnbull, North Vancouver; J. M. Thomas, Cobble Hill; Leon C. Shelly, Vancouver; Betty MacKenzie, Victoria; Barbara Hall, Hurr, Port St. John, and William Plenderleith, Pouce Coupe.

The annual report of the association, read to the meeting by Major Bullock-Webster, was as follows:

"It is a pleasure to be able to lay before you a very satisfactory report of the past year's work. The festival movement has met with support in every part of the province. As time goes on we hope to be able to have preliminary contests in a number of districts which are now organizing with that object in view. The number of entries for the provincial festival here will continue to increase, and as you know, the quality of the performance given shows marked improvement.

"We now have sixty-three Little Theatres and drama groups throughout the province affiliated and operating in conjunction with this association. We have already been able to give assistance to sixteen groups during the summer and are planning to be of greater service to a larger number later. Letters have been coming in from all over the province during the last few months asking for advice or information. Your secretary has devoted himself unsparringly to this work, and every letter has been answered promptly, and the information supplied when it was within our power to obtain it. Only last Saturday a telegram reached me from the Comox asking if it was possible to obtain a certain play immediately. Neither of the libraries had it, but within ten minutes we located two copies in Larch Hill and sent them saying where they could be obtained. This is a striking example of the sort of thing that goes on, to a lesser degree, all the time.

"During the summer we have written 835 letters and have sent out plays and catalogues to a number of groups. You can see that your secretary has been active. I might mention here that Miss Peggy Hamilton was kind enough to type some letters for us when we were very rushed in the summer.

HELP FROM SCHOOLS
"We are fortunate in having secured the co-operation of a number of the school inspectors who have put us in touch with those teachers in their districts who are interested in this work. Most kind assistance has been received from Albert Sullivan, J. B. de Long, H. H. MacGillivray, A. J. Matthews, T. O. Carter, V. S. Manning, W. G. Gamble, P. H. Sheffield, T. W. Hall, G. H. Gower, William Plenderleith, H. C. Fraser, E. G. Daniels and T. B. Hall. With their help we have secured the co-operation of eighty-five high school and elementary teachers who are at the present time developing dramatic interest in their schools. You can see what this will mean to the province in the course of a few years. Realistic communities will be able to entertain themselves and enjoy the recreational and cultural benefits of community drama.

"The parent organization should be in a position to send out from time to time, qualified people who can help with the problems of rural groups, deliver lectures and assist them in the development of their own drama groups. The present expanding policy of adult education and university extension courses, this may well be achieved in our province. Alberta, with far fewer drama groups than we have, has nevertheless managed to obtain a grant from the Carnegie Corporation, which enables them to finance this community drama movement. Manitoba is just beginning to

"What are we doing, or planning for the future, along these lines? There are three things now in preparation. We are preparing a list of Little Theatre Columbia dramatists and their plays. This will be distributed free to the groups, and we shall endeavor to help the authors to market their work. Secondly, we are preparing to issue a bulletin or small magazine giving a brief account of what each group has already accomplished, and is now doing. These will be distributed at cost price. Thirdly—and this is the biggest thing we have attempted, and one for which we want your sanction and support—is the proposal that this association shall sponsor what is to be known as the C.D.A. or Canadian Drama Award.

This, like the Y.C., will cost very little, but it will be the highest recognition yet offered to those men and women throughout the Dominion, who have done outstanding work for the development of Canadian drama. I need only say that the idea has met with support in all quarters. Representative groups throughout the Dominion are helping us to collect the data on which a special committee can base their course of action. It is proposed to invite a judge of the hour of Appeal to give us the benefit of his experience and of his prestige. Also one of the university professors will be asked to assist the committee. We have been working on this matter for some time, carefully collecting data on which the new executive can act when they are ready. We have had recommendations from every province.

WIDE SUPPORT
"The idea is taken seriously, by serious people. The eastern newspapers are supporting us. Some of the editors of The Montreal Star has taken the trouble to send us information and suggestions in connection with the first award. We have letters from premiers, ministers of education, university chancellors, deputy ministers and superintendents in the different provinces, and will during the next few months have reliable information on which to act, and the public can be assured of impartiality and absolute fairness in the granting of the first awards.

"During the last six months we have sent out a questionnaire to every member of our advisory board, and their views and wishes will be laid before the incoming executive. There are one or two points on which I have been asked to speak briefly: one is that it should be generally known that no member of the executive since this association was formed has accepted any remuneration directly or indirectly for his or her services. There is only one exception. A small honorarium was voted to the stage manager, who gave up half of his holidays in order to do heavy manual work in connection with the festival last year. Mr. Pott has accepted and we have been most grateful to him for his assistance. We are not speaking too highly of the splendid service that has been rendered by the officers, and want to take this opportunity of thanking the members of the executive for the fine co-operative spirit that has been evident throughout the year. But for this willingness to pull together it would have been impossible to develop and expand the association as we have. Let me also thank Miss Crighton for her generous support of the association for the very valuable assistance they have given to the association. All committees are working on a full-time basis, and we are most grateful to the press and the public for their generous support of the Provincial festival and of the work of the association generally.

"To the members of the association, I have every right to be proud of your work. You have not only made two blades of grass grow where one grew before; you have made a local drama group grow into a national one, and the fragrance will be wafted to the nostrils of a generation yet unborn."

CENTENNIAL Y.P.E.
The regular weekly meeting of the Young People's Society of Centennial United Church took the form of a Hallows' party which was held in a vacant house on the corner of Washington Avenue and George Road. There was a full attendance of members and a fine time was enjoyed. Ghostly figures directed the members into the house through a dark passageway leading up from the cellar. A fine program of Hallows' party was conducted by the recreation committee, namely, Ernest Hatch, Douglas MacLennan, Joe Almond and George Almond. At the close of the social, refreshments were served in the Sunday school room of the church.

Owner of Car From Which Shot Was Fired at Pheasants Is Prosecuted

Because he was the registered owner of a car from which a provincial game warden saw a shot fired on October 22, Mah Jong, Chinese, was fined $15 and $4.50 costs by Magistrate J. W. Jones in the Provincial Police Court yesterday afternoon. The information was laid under the Game Act which holds the registered owner responsible for the offence in a case where the actual offender is not identified.

Game Warden J. W. Jones testified while patrolling on Lake Hood he saw Mah Jong driving towards him. The car stopped about 150 yards away, turned around and as it started back, he saw a shot fired from it at some pheasants in a field at the roadside. He looked after the car, the warden testified, and after attempting to stop it, he passed it along the road at sixty miles an hour. He could not catch the vehicle as it proceeded down McClellan Avenue. Later he identified the car at the Quadra Greenhouses. He was unable to state who had fired the shot from the car.

Sergeant W. H. Handie of the motor record office, testified the accused was the registered owner of the car. J. B. Clearinghouse appeared for the defence and Sergeant Richard Harvey prosecuted.

PRESENTATIONS TO RETIRING EMPLOYEES
Presentations to four retiring members of bindery staff of the King's Printery were made yesterday afternoon.

Hon. G. M. Weir, Provincial Secretary, officiated, making the presentations on behalf of the staff.

To Mrs. M. Smith, forewoman in the bindery, went a waffle iron, suitably engraved. A handsome purse was presented to Miss E. E. Harris. Miss E. Merrill received an opal ring, and Isaac Culross was the recipient of a smoking set. Bouquets of flowers were also given to the women.

Charles F. Sanfield, King's Printer, introduced Dr. Weir who paid tribute to the efficiency and loyalty of the members retiring after long and faithful service.

A start on the shore approaches for the new Fraser River bridge at New Westminster will probably be made this winter if the plans are given early approval by the Department of Marine, it was indicated here today.

The central pier will have to wait until next fall when the freshet has finished. In all construction will take three years, an official of the bridge company explained.

session on the question of titles, by threatening to dissolve Parliament. That soon brought the boys to heel because they knew that if there were an election, most of them wouldn't come back. But next session I won't be able to do that again because of our unfortunate constitution. There must be an election in 1935 anyway. The boys have got to face the music, and I can't threaten them any more. So I rather fear that during the session we may have a lot of trouble, particularly as you have made yourself a national hero and forced me to parry you, and now only await a good chance to martyr me.

SUDDEN DISCOVERY
I should have fired you before, as you say, but I wanted you to win the Ontario by-elections for us while I stayed in London. My presence in Canada might have antagonized the voters. When we lost the by-elections I realized that your usefulness was at an end and therefore, on my return from London, conveniently discovered—the public having known for six months or more—that you had made a most indiscreet speech to a study club and that it had leaked out in a pamphlet. It occurred to me that the principle of Cabinet solidarity must be maintained. I kind of wish now it had occurred to me a year ago when you first went on the warpath.

"However, as you say, I shall probably find consolation in those rewards of nobility which the Crown is still able to bestow freely of its own will in this country, thanks to my foresight last session. Finally, allow me, my dear Harry, to congratulate you on your great service to the public in this matter and on the slightest stunt I have ever witnessed in politics. Without your co-operation, a government would never have been able to get where it is to-day. You ought to be satisfied."

CATHOLIC Y.P. CLUB
Success crowned the efforts of the Catholic Young People's Club at their dance Tuesday night in the K. of C. Hall, when a large number of dancers, attired in costume, and pictures and shabby, enjoyed the special "hard times masquerade" dance. The prizes for the hard time outfit were won by Mrs. Guillemot and Jack Lamport. The committee, comprising Messrs. B. Weicker, C. Collins, J. Cox and J. Klesinger, was congratulated on the success of the affair. This evening's social and entertainment will be held in the parish hall. The entertainment will feature Rev. Father Sharkey of Vancouver, who is bringing some special talking pictures for the occasion.

PAYS FINE FOR GAME OFFENCE

Owner of Car From Which Shot Was Fired at Pheasants Is Prosecuted

Because he was the registered owner of a car from which a provincial game warden saw a shot fired on October 22, Mah Jong, Chinese, was fined $15 and $4.50 costs by Magistrate J. W. Jones in the Provincial Police Court yesterday afternoon. The information was laid under the Game Act which holds the registered owner responsible for the offence in a case where the actual offender is not identified.

Game Warden J. W. Jones testified while patrolling on Lake Hood he saw Mah Jong driving towards him. The car stopped about 150 yards away, turned around and as it started back, he saw a shot fired from it at some pheasants in a field at the roadside. He looked after the car, the warden testified, and after attempting to stop it, he passed it along the road at sixty miles an hour. He could not catch the vehicle as it proceeded down McClellan Avenue. Later he identified the car at the Quadra Greenhouses. He was unable to state who had fired the shot from the car.

WINNER WILL CLAIM CROWN

Vancouver, Nov. 1.—The Vancouver Boxing Commission has sanctioned the fifteen-round bout between Billy Townsend and Gordon Wallace, November 7, as for the Canadian welterweight championship and it will be billed as such, Jack Allan, Vancouver fight promoter, stated yesterday evening.

Tuesday night the Canadian Boxing Federation announced in Montreal that there were four boxers in the east in line for an elimination series for the title and that consequently the winner of the Vancouver fight would be accepted as British Columbia's nominee only.

"The Canadian Boxing Federation is purely a Quebec and Ontario organization. Western provinces have no representation on it," continued Allan.

"The fact that there is not one boxer in the welter division in either Quebec or Ontario capable of headlining a card of any importance in either Montreal or Toronto disposes of the federation's view towards the Townsend-Wallace fight."

"Of the four boxers mentioned by the federation as in line for an elimination series, only Tommy Bland has ever fought as a head-liner and he is a lightweight. The other three boys are preliminary fighters."

FIRST MARKET BOARD NAMED

Tree Fruits Board Given Provincial Powers Under B.C. Act

The Provincial Government to-day approved the first completed marketing scheme under the Natural Products Marketing Act and set up the first commodity board authorized to control distribution.

The board will be known as the B.C. Tree Fruit Board and will control marketing of tree fruits in the interior of the province.

It consists of Walter E. Haskings, chairman, O. W. Hembling and George A. Barratt, the same personnel as the Interior Tree Fruits Board set up by the federal authorities in August.

The scheme gives this board authority to handle the output for domestic consumption. From Ottawa the board already was empowered to deal with the inter-provincial and export business.

It will be effective November 10. Full regulations will be published in The B.C. Gazette and two newspapers in the area concerned.

While this scheme went through, another development occurred in the Fraser Valley milk producers' efforts to draft a marketing plan for fluid milk. The marketing board, it is understood, laid down the principle that the board already was empowered to deal with the inter-provincial and export business.

In view of argument by the producers before the board here this week the ruling is expected to lead to further negotiation by the different groups. Some of them claim that such a move would have a large number of farmers from the fluid market.

AFRICA PLANE RIDE THRILLS

H. C. Creedy Saw Lions and Elephants Stampede in Flight Over Jungle

Swooping low down from altitude to get a birds-eye view of elephant herds in the jungle, and watch lions trailing the plains in search of prey, while safely out of their reach, is all part of the sensational thrills to be gained from an airplane ride across the heart of Africa.

H. C. Creedy, British retired public works official, who saw twenty-eight years of service in India, and who is at the Empress Hotel to-day on his way to New Zealand and Australia, recently enjoyed such an experience. After visiting the Rand last summer Mr. Creedy flew from Johannesburg by regular passenger service operated across Africa by the Imperial Airways to Cairo.

"It was a most interesting experience and full of unusual thrills all the way," said Mr. Creedy in an interview here to-day. "It is now possible to fly from Capetown to Cairo within a week, with all the flying done in the daytime, for the ships are grounded at night to permit the travelers to sleep comfortably in hotels at scheduled stopping points."

"There are plenty of sightings there and the pilots do everything in their power to make the trip interesting for the air travelers. We frequently came across lions in the Tanganyika territory, where there are wild life reserves, and the plane was brought down to give the passengers a close-up. The lions of Africa are becoming used to the roar of airplanes over their heads, but they pay the closest attention to what is going on aloft and the possibility of being forced down gives an added thrill to the adventure."

"Since the motion picture companies have been operating in the jungle the king of beasts has become somewhat blasé. The movie men have been in the habit of dragging carcasses of meat behind automobiles to hold the undivided attention of the beasts and now autos are steadily trailed by lions."

Elephant Stampede

LIGHT DAMAGE IS REPORTED

Breaking Arc Lights and Turning on Hydrants Principal Halloween Offences

Smashing of arc lights and the turning on of fire hydrants were the chief complaints which police of Victoria and Oak Bay were concerned with yesterday evening as they devoted their efforts to maintaining law and order throughout a Halloween celebration that was reported to be generally quiet.

Outside of the above-mentioned offences the pranks of the youngsters constituted the usual tricks—stealing gates, throwing bombs on verandas, and in some cases removing party fences.

Several calls were received at the police station this morning from men and women who were reporting that they had a strange gate sprung up on their verandas, or they were putting garbage in someone else's can.

THIRTY-SIX CALLS

At the city headquarters, thirty-six calls which warranted their being placed on a night patrol were received. All that were attributed to Halloween pranks. The fire department responded to two false alarms, one at the south of Port Street, and the other at Moss and May Streets.

Police reported that two-thirds of the calls received were for pranks by children south of Port Street, of Foul Bay, Fairfield and James Bay districts.

Four fire hydrants were opened by children in the evening and cautioned by Inspector John T. Boulton, who said that the hydrants were not to be turned on Halloween or any other night.

After an examination of the operations of automatic traffic signals, Chief of Police Heatley and Matt Hutchinson, city electrician, arrived back in Victoria yesterday evening from Seattle and Vancouver.

The chief stated this morning he and Mr. Hutchinson had been successful in securing considerable valuable data on signal operation and he particularly stressed the fact that in the event of installation of the signals here, Victoria would be able to benefit from the mistakes made in other cities which were pointed out.

The Victorians spent Sunday evening in Anacortes and on Monday went to Seattle. Electrical representatives and police authorities were consulted in the Sound city and the chief and Mr. Hutchinson were conducted on a detailed tour of inspection of the signal plant and the control rooms.

They left Seattle on Tuesday and also examined the systems operating in the small coast cities on the way to Vancouver, including Mount Vernon, Everett and Bellingham.

More representatives of electrical firms were interviewed in Vancouver and visits were paid to police officials.

The chief was thoroughly satisfied with the data compiled on the trip and stated he would have complete information on automatic signals to supply to the special committee of the City Council at its next meeting.

QUICK ACTION SAVES MARKET

Possible destruction of Cross's Meat Market, Menzies Street, by fire, was prevented at an early hour this morning by the quick action of Motorcyclist Constable Alex. Nichol, and the janitor of the building.

According to a police report Constable Nichol was marking his regular rounds in the James Bay district when he noticed a small electric motor in the building was on fire. He immediately notified headquarters who summoned W. W. Cross, the proprietor.

In the meantime the blaze appeared to be growing and Constable Nichol, realizing quick action was necessary, communicated with the janitor, got into the building and put the fire out.

Many beautiful floral tributes and a large attendance of sorrowing friends attested to the popularity of Capt. Albert Edward Jones at the funeral services held yesterday afternoon.

FIRST MARKET BOARD NAMED

Tree Fruits Board Given Provincial Powers Under
B.C. Act

The Provincial Government today approved the first completed marketing scheme under the Natural Products Marketing Act and set up the first commodity board authorized to control distribution.

The board will be known as the B.C. Tree Fruit Board and will control marketing of tree fruits in the interior of the province.

It consists of Walter E. Haskins, chairman, O. W. Hembling and George A. Barratt, the same personnel as the Interior Tree Fruits Board set up by the federal authorities in August.

The scheme gives this board authority to handle the output for domestic consumption. From Ottawa the board already was empowered to deal with the inter-provincial and export business.

It will be effective November 10. Full regulations will be published in The B.C. Gazette and two newspapers in the area concerned.

While this scheme went through, another development occurred in the Fraser Valley milk producers' efforts to draft a marketing plan for fluid milk.

The marketing board, it is understood, laid down the principle that pooling under the scheme should be done according to grades in the milk act.

In view of argument by the producers before the board here this week the ruling is expected to lead to further negotiation by the different groups. Some of them claim that such a move would bar a large number of farmers from the fluid market.

AFRICA PLANE
RIDE THRILLS

H. C. Creedy Saw Lions and Elephants Stampede in Flight Over Jungle

Swooping low down from altitude to get a birdseye view of elephant herds in the jungle, and watch lions trailing the plains in search of prey, while safely out of their reach, is all part of the sensational thrills to be gained from an airplane ride across the heart of Africa.

H. D. Creedy, British retired public works official, who saw twenty-eight years of service in India, and who is at the Empress Hotel to-day on his way to New Zealand and Australia, recently enjoyed such an experience.

After visiting the Rand last summer Mr. Creedy flew from Johannesburg by regular passenger service operated across Africa by the Imperial Airways to Cairo.

"It was a most interesting experience and full of unusual thrills all the way," said Mr. Creedy in an interview here to-day. "It is now possible to fly from Capetown to Cairo within a week, with all the flying done in the daytime, for the ships are grounded at night to permit the travelers to sleep comfortably in hotels at scheduled stopping points."

"There are plenty of side-shows there and the pilots do everything in their power to make the trip interesting for the air travelers."

Elephants were the first to be brought down to give the passengers a close-up. The lions of Africa are becoming used to the roar of airplanes over their heads, but they pay the closest attention to what is going on aloft and the possibility of being forced down gives an added thrill to the adventure.

"Since the motion picture companies have been operating in the jungle the king of beasts has become somewhat blasé. The movie men have been in the habit of dragging carcasses of meat behind automobiles to hold the undivided attention of the beasts and now autos are steadily trailed by lions."

LIGHT DAMAGE IS REPORTED

Breaking Arc Lights and Turning on Hydrants Principal Halloween Offences

Smashing of arc lights and the turning on of fire hydrants were the chief complaints which police of Victoria and Oak Bay were concerned with yesterday evening as they devoted their efforts to maintaining law and order throughout a Halloween celebration that was reported to be generally quiet.

Outside of the above-mentioned offences the ranks of the youngsters constituted the usual tricks—stealing gates, throwing bombs on verandas, and in some cases removing parts of fences and mail boxes.

Several calls were received at the police station this morning from men and women who were reporting that they had a strange gate strung up on their verandas, or they were putting garbage in someone else's can.

At the city headquarters, thirty-six calls which warranted their being taken down by the police were reported. All that were attributed to Halloween pranks. The fire department responded to two false alarms, one at the corner of Ross and Beach streets and the other at Moss and May streets.

Police reported that two-thirds of the calls received were for pranks by children south of Fort Street, in the Ross Bay, Fairfield and James Bay districts.

Four fire hydrants were opened by the youngsters, but no damage was reported to have been done. Police have started an investigation of these cases, which constitute serious offences.

Six boys were taken into city headquarters late in the evening and cautioned by Inspector John T. Boulton, that the city police would not be tolerated on Halloween or on any other night.

DAMAGE REPORTED
The following is a review of most of the damage reported: A fence down on Superior Street at rear of Parliament Buildings.

Fence down at Catherine and Wilson streets.

False alarms to Moss and May streets and Mary Street and Esquimalt Road.

Two arc lights broken in front of Christian Science Church, Pandora Avenue.

Water meter cover on sidewalk on Pandora Avenue removed.

Arc light smashed on St. Charles Street.

Fence down at Government Street at Dalhousie Road.

Electric light wire broken at St. Charles and Esquimalt streets.

Hydrant on Cressie estate on Rockland Avenue opened.

Arc light at Wellington Avenue and Dallas Road broken.

Fire hydrants at Beach Drive and Mount Johnson Road, and Drive and Cranmore Road, and Monterey Avenue and McNeill Avenue, in Oak Bay, turned on.

Injuries reported were a broken leg suffered by sixteen-year-old Ernest Worth, 614 Craigflower Road, during a scuffle at St. Charles Street, and a broken arm suffered by a boy named Stanley O'Neil, who was taken to police headquarters and later removed to the Jubilee Hospital where he was attended by Dr. E. L. McIvor.

Mayor on Stand
In Noise Trial

Official Investigation Revealed No Cause of Complaint at Laundry

Mayor Leeming took the stand for the defence in the noise trial before Mr. Justice Murphy of the Supreme Court, when he was asked to explain the complaint against the laundry.

The mayor, called by D. S. Tait, defence counsel, said the court of an official investigation attended by the mayor and alderman having been made into the plant in an effort to discover the noise Mr. Duval said he had heard.

"There were no noises to be heard, other than the natural ones attending the operation of a laundry operation," the mayor said.

Thomas Anderson, engineer, testifying for the defence, said he had been called by Mr. Duval to come and listen to noises and feel vibrations which he alleged he was feeling.

As a result of his investigations Mr. Anderson said he could not find any noise or vibrations, and he had advised Mr. Duval to cease troubling himself.

Joshua Smith, chief engineer at the plant for the last fifteen years, and with many years of experience before that, including ten years in the Navy, took the stand and denied there was any vibration at the laundry plant, as described by Mr. Duval.

As for the statement by Mr. Duval that he had heard "rumbling noise" between 3 and 8 o'clock the morning of the trial, he explained it could not have come from the laundry plant, as the steam valves at all the tanks are shut off at 10 o'clock.

Fred Butterfield, land surveyor and civil engineer, testified about inspecting the plant and making the recommendations to make it a silent plant.

The trial is continuing.

Joe Addison Aldous Memorial Cup For Sportsmanship

THE SPORTS MANOR

MORE THAN a hint that Mack Garner, veteran rider who has found his association with Trainer "Bob" Smith and the Brookmeade stable of Mrs. Dodge Sloan, a particularly lucrative one this year, will not be the contract rider for this outfit next year is seen with the repeated instances of Smith putting up John Westrop on Brookmeade candidates whenever opportunity presents. Garner caught with the Brookmeade establishment this spring and rode Cavalcade in all his successful engagements. That the "big boy" was so consistently successful was more a revelation to his own ability than any help Garner gave him, according to many observers. It is said, too, that Trainer Smith has become one of those who subscribes to this belief.

Garner's association with Brookmeade was worth in the neighborhood of $22,500 to him, it is estimated. Of this at least $11,250 came in the nature of commissions out of stakes. Another $11,250 was straight salary and still $3,000 more came from Garner's abstinence from the flowing bowl during the time he has been under contract to Mrs. Dodge Sloan. The veteran is well fixed, however, and probably the last one to squawk when handed the blue ticket. He has an $80,000 home and always has drawn top salary, his long association with the Brookmeade stable having not been without its pecuniary benefits.

Although he is now a film star and his wife renowned on the screen, Johnny Weismuller does not forget that he still holds six world swimming records, Olympic titles and numerous other championships in every corner of the world. Weismuller is now in London and he has confided his views on modern swimming: "Seriousness," he said, "is the keynote to success. To-day seriousness is lacking and the standard of swimming is at a low ebb. I doubt whether it has been lower for years. That is all wrong when you remember that science has been applied to the art. Swimming should be progress, progress all the way, with records smashed every year."

"The Japanese have the right idea. They start swimming as children and they develop enthusiasm. I think they are the coming swimming nation of the world. England is taking the disadvantage of the climate. The reason you are not, I think, is because you are too stable in all branches of sport, and especially in swimming. You must specialize to be good. We do in America, and results have proved we are right. In Miami and California we have established a climate for the establishing of records, and so have they in Australia, but Anne Borg has proved that cold weather is not insurmountable. The crawl stroke foundation is the soundest. I did fifty-eight seconds for the 100 yards at Amsterdam in 1928."

"This sun-bathing craze should help England, for it gets people to the sea, and perhaps that will counteract apathy. So far as coaching is concerned, the English are a little out of rhythm, and it is a question of natural aptitude on the part of each swimmer. The crawl stroke foundation is the soundest. I did fifty-eight seconds for the 100 yards at Amsterdam in 1928."

Britain's amateur lawn tennis players have set off on another annual globe trotting tour. Their main objective is the centenary championship at Melbourne. Fred Perry will join the party led by Miss Mary Healey, Miss M. Lyle and Miss Desmond accompanied by G. P. Hughes have just left for the Antipodes. Hughes claims that his round has exceeded three hundred thousand miles. Probably an "amateur" record for all-time earnings. This is Miss Round's second tour. She returned last year from America via China and Japan. Once again Miss Round will return via the Far East. She will be met at Colombo by Miss Mary Healey.

In 1923 Miss Healey was ranked as England's number one player. Now she has taken up golf. Experts who have seen her say she is likely to cut as big a figure in the game as she has in tennis. After being given the limit handicap of thirty-six, Miss Healey was "pulled" a dozen strokes in a few days. Two weeks ago she won the medal prize at the Walham Club, Warwickshire, returning a net fifty-nine, and the day afterwards was beaten only by a margin of two strokes by the champion, Miss M. Lyle. "I've lost a lot of my interest in tennis, which is either the cause or the result of loss of form," says Miss Healey. "A professional who has watched her in any case I'm getting more thrill out of golf than I did out of tennis, and I'd give a lot to reach scratch."

A professional who has watched her in any case I'm getting more thrill out of golf than I did out of tennis, and I'd give a lot to reach scratch."

Is Popular Choice For Award Denoting Ideal Of Athletes

SPORTSMANSHIP

After Season of Active Triumphs, Young Runner is Voted Example to Team-mates

Bill Dale Given Honorable Mention

"A boy who holds the game above the prize," Sprinters and field athletes of the Y.M.C.A. have selected Joe Addison, stocky young fellow performer who scaled the heights in the national field this year, as the figure who best exemplifies that ideal. An advance count of the Aldous Memorial Cup poll, which annually decides the finest sportsman of the Flying Y track squad, revealed Joe striding ahead of other nominees to-day.

The trophy, which can be held only for one year, was won for the first time last year by Charles "Chuck" Cunningham. It is awarded under the following conditions:

"Emblematic of sportsmanship, the cup is presented at the close of the track season to the Y.M.C.A. runner or field man who approximates most nearly the virtues of the Aldous Memorial Cup, which is the most graceful loser or winner—a boy who holds the game above the prize."

According to the conditions, the winner need not necessarily be an outstanding victor in the track or field athletics. True sportsmanship will be the cardinal requisite for the award.

Addison was chosen from a field of twenty-four nominees. The vote was restricted to members of the Y.M.C.A. track team, all of whom had the opportunity to study the character of the candidates at first hand. To them it exemplifies an honor far greater than can be won on the track. It stands for the spirit of the game.

Coming as it did at the climax of his most brilliant season, the award has rounded off a series of triumphs which not only ranked Addison in the van of active performers, but also set him up as an example of those characteristics dear to the hearts of sports followers.

Five or six years ago Addison first drew the attention of Archie McKinnon, one of western Canada's outstanding track coaches.

Province Five Defeat Adanacs

New Westminster, Nov. 1.—A great last half finish turned what earlier looked like certain defeat into a 40 to 35 victory for Vancouver Province in their scheduled intercity basketball league fixture with Adanacs here yesterday evening.

Trailing the Royal City squad 20 to 13 at half-time, the Canadian champions spurred to turn the tide early in the first of the second half and carried the play into Adanacs territory and staged off a last-minute rally by the Westminster five.

ADANACS HAVE SMART OUTFIT

When Blue Ribbons step onto the floor at the Victoria High School gym on Saturday to oppose the New Westminster Adanacs in an intercity basketball clash they will be up against a smooth combination. In a letter to J. J. Barwell, manager of the Ribbons, "Toots" Phillips, Adanacs' manager, discloses a powerful outfit will represent the Royal City club.

Jumping at centre for the Adanacs will be Al Smith, last year with the Vancouver Athletic Club team. He will be flanked by Wally Mayers, Ronny Heath, Bob McDonald, Gordon Douglas, Ken Wright and Pete Meehan. Heath, last season with the V.A.C. is very fast and tricky. McDonald and Douglas were with Verity last season and are smart performers. Meehan is the youngest recruit of the team and is developing fast.

As guard for the Adanacs will be the veteran Syd McLean, Ken MacDonald of Adanacs lacrosse fame, Ken Matheson and Hugh McKnight, last year with the McKnight-Fraser club. Yesterday evening the Adanacs lost a tough game to the Vancouver Province, Canadian champions, being nose out after gaining a good early lead.

EDMONTON TO SEEK HONORS

Winnipeg, Nov. 1.—Edmonton Kinsmen will play the winner of the Winnipeg Deer Lodge-Regina Dales semi-final title for the Western Canada junior rugby championship. The game will be played November 10 on the grounds of the semi-final victors.

This announcement was made here today by Arnold Dowd, secretary of the Western Canadian Rugby Football Union, who received a wire from President Sax Crossley in Vancouver, stating the new plans.

Either Winnipeg or Regina, which ever wins the match to be played at Regina Saturday, will play host to the Edmonton Kinsmen. It is believed the ruling calls upon the home team paying Edmonton's expenses.

Winnipeg Deer Lodge yesterday voiced willingness to pay Edmonton's expenses should they beat Dales. While the Regina management said it would be prepared to discuss financial arrangements with the Alberta champions.

Vancouver Meralomas junior definitely withdrew from the play-off scheme, leaving Alberta's representatives semi-final victors by default.

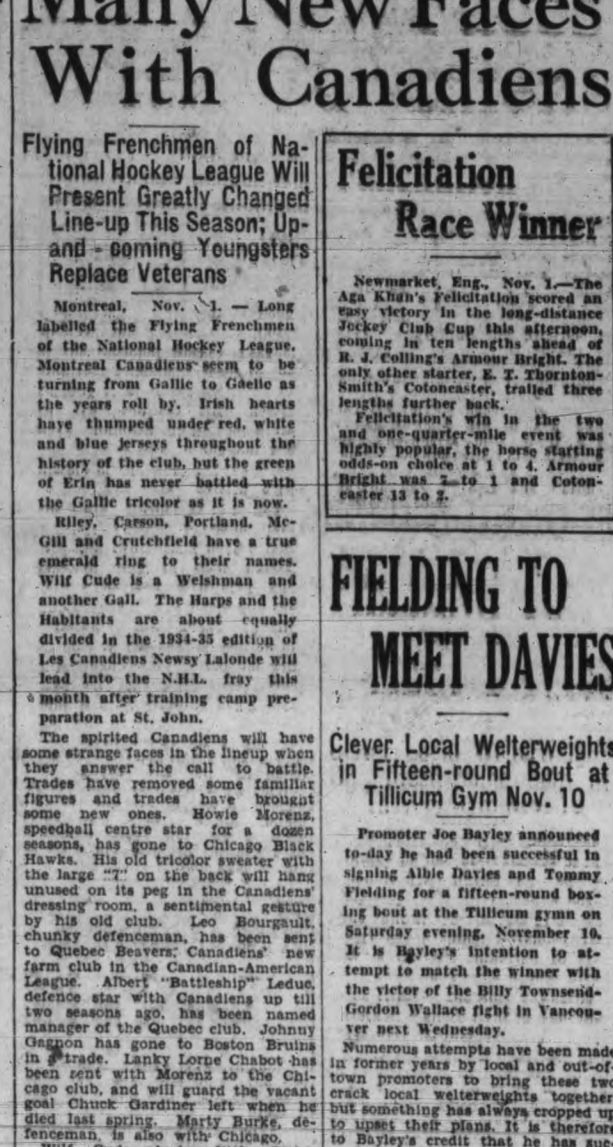

Ross Signs for Canzoneri Bout

New York, Nov. 1.—The long-disputed return match between Barney Ross, world lightweight champion, and Tony Canzoneri, from whom he won the title, is headed for Chicago. It was indicated to-day. It is expected to take place there early in December over a ten-round route in Canzoneri's accepted terms.

Ross signed articles of agreement yesterday, according to a message to his New York representative, Hal Gold.

Ross won the championship from Canzoneri in Chicago and successfully defended it against him here three months later. He is expected to engage in several over-weight matches before meeting Canzoneri.

Many New Faces With Canadiens

Flying Frenchmen of National Hockey League Will Present Greatly Changed Line-up This Season; Up-and-coming Youngsters Replace Veterans

Montreal, Nov. 1.—Long labelled the Flying Frenchmen of the National Hockey League, Montreal Canadiens seem to be turning from Gallic to Gaelic as the years roll by. Irish hearts have thumped under red, white and blue jerseys throughout the history of the club, but the green of Erin has never battled with the Gallic tricolor as it is now.

Riley, Carson, Portland, McGill and Crutchfield have a true emerald ring to their names. Will Cude is a Welshman and another Gall. The Harps and the Habitués are about equally divided in the 1934-35 edition of Les Canadiens Newsw Lalonde will lead into the N.H.L. fray this month after training camp preparation at St. John.

The spirited Canadiens will have some strange faces in the lineup when they answer the call to battle. Trades have removed some familiar figures and trades have brought some new ones. Movie Moguls, speedball center stars for the season, has gone to Chicago Black Hawks. His old tricolor sweater with the large "C" on the back will hang unused on its peg in the Canadiens dressing room. A sentimental gesture by his old club. Leo Bourgeault, chunky defenceman, has been sent to Quebec. Another sentimental gesture by his old club. The Canadiens' new farm club in the Canadian-American League, Albert "Battleship" Leduc, defenceman star with Canadiens up till last season, has been named manager of the Quebec club. Johnny Gagnon has gone to Boston Bruins in a trade. Lanky Lorne Chabot has been sent with Leduc to the Chicago club and will guard the vacant goal. Chuck Gardiner, left when he died last spring, Marty Burke, defenceman, is also with Chicago.

Will Cude, play call little Welsh goosier, was recalled from Detroit Red Wings, to whom Canadiens loaned his last season. Will was replaced John Ross Rosh during the season.

From Chicago Black Hawks the Canadiens secured Roger "Broadway" Jenkins, a sturdy body-checking defenceman, who can rush fast. From amateur ranks the Canadiens picked up a pair of husky sharpshooters in Jack McGill and "Red" Kelly. McGill, scoring ace of McGill University, Canadian and international intercollegiate champions, Crutchfield, either centre or wing. Big Jerry Carson and Roger Jenkins get the call for starting defencemen in the new lineup. The old Morena-Gagnon-Jollat line will be at his old post ranging the left-hand boards. Pit Lepine, poke-checker, will replace Leduc at the pivot position. Speedy Willie La Rochelle comes up from the substitute bench to replace Gagnon at right wing.

Sylvio Mantha, the old veteran, and Jack Portland, rapidly-improving youngster, are available for re-call duty. Jack Kelly, one of last season's Canadiens, will centre the second forward line, with Armand Mondou on left wing, and the fast-moving George Mantha racing up and down the right wing. Paul Raymond will play on the third line with the two college recruits, McGill and Crutchfield. McGill will be at left wing, Crutchfield at centre. Adelard La France, Sudbury youngster, who turned pro with the Canadiens late last season, has been sent to Quebec to help out, together with Bob McCully, together with promising youngsters, who tried out at the St. John training camp for places with the Red Shirts.

J. E. Johnson is Elected President of the Victoria Lawn Bowling Club

J. E. Johnson was elected president of the Victoria Lawn Bowling Club at the annual meeting, Tuesday evening, in the clubrooms at Beacon Hill Park. The gathering was a most enthusiastic one, with about fifty members present. The reports of the various officers showed the club to have one of the most successful years in its history.

STOCKS RECORD SMALL GAINS

AT NEW YORK

(Associated Press)

New York, Nov. 1.—Stocks were

somewhat depressed today in trading,

which was a bit more active. Prices began to slip after a steady rise in the reaction. The rails were leaders in the reaction. There were scattered firm spots, however, and most losses

were moderate.

The close was easy. Transfers approximated 600,000 shares.

The quality list, as a whole, appeared to be non-receptive to a sharp

fall in wheat and corn following the peaking of wheat prices at Winnipeg.

Cotton pointed downward throughout. Rubber steadied after its yesterday's decline. Bonds were highly irregular, with U.S. government securities developing a lower trend. In foreign exchange dealings sterling was firm, but the leading European currencies sagged.

Share gainers of fractions to around a point included Universal Leaf Tobacco, Radio Preferred B. Loew's,

Borden and Continental Can. On the other hand Jersey Central dropped six points, Union Pacific was off two and United Fruit and U.S. Smelting lost about a point each.

National Distillers and Schenley

were a little higher, reflecting seasonal improvement in liquor sales.

Others, about unchanged to fraction-

ally down, included American Telephone, Consolidated Gas, American

Can. General Motors, U.S. Steel, Case,

Chrysler, Westinghouse, Santa Fe,

N.Y. Central, Baltimore and Ohio,

Western Union and Bethlehem Steel.

Penick and Ford yielded two and

Libby-Owens Glass was off nearly a point at a new year's low. People's

Gas also touched bottom for the year,

but Wilson Co. "A" made a new 1934

top before easing.

Combinations of the Above May Be Worked Out to Give a

Yield of Between 5.00% and 5.50%.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX—I am thirty-five years old and my wife is twenty-three. We love each other dearly, but we have many quarrels. Almost invariably our misunderstandings come after we have been out to some social function. When we stay at home we get along splendidly.

When we go to parties it seems that my wife is too anxious to be popular, especially if there is any talk around to entertain her or dance with her, and, of course, there is always such a man around who will monopolize a good-looking married woman, if she will let him.

Under the circumstances I do not feel right toward my wife, and as a result of this feeling I have become irritable. Although I give her everything she asks for, I regret that I cannot do so without a grudge. I love her better than my own life, but I cannot fail at her feet and worship the ground she walks on when she does these things that break down my morale and efficiency. Needless to say, no other woman in the world can interest me, and any and all considerations that I show other women are strictly the demands of society or my professional duty.

What do you think of the situation? ANXIOUS.

Answer: I think that you have allowed yourself to grow perfectly morbid with jealousy and that you are cultivating a spirit that bids fair to poison your entire life, alienate your wife from you and wreck your home.

From your own showing, your wife has done nothing except conform to the usages of good society. In the circles in which you evidently move a woman is expected, when she goes out to dinners, to make herself as agreeable and entertaining to her dinner partners as she can. She is expected, also, to know how to dance well enough to make men cut in on her dances and seek her out as a partner. Also, she is expected to dress so as to enhance whatever beauty she has to the highest degree. If she did not do these things, you would be ashamed of her.

You would not want your wife to be so dowdy and unattractive that she would cut a poor figure among the other women, and no man would look at her, except to pity you for having married her and wonder why you picked her out. You would be mortified to death if she were a dumbbell, and so hard to talk to that every man hated his hostess for having wished her on him as a seat mate at dinner. And you would be far from pleased if she were a wallflower at balls and no man danced with her except from a heroic sense of duty.

Yet when your wife takes the trouble to make herself pleasant and agreeable in society and reflects credit on your taste and judgment, instead of being proud of her as you should be, you permit yourself to be eaten up with jealousy. And the poor woman hasn't done a thing to deserve your suspicions!

You yourself are to be blamed if you judge her by the standards of Rabbit Track. Instead of the world in which you live. In the provinces, where a woman is never expected to go anywhere after she is married, or to speak to any man except her husband, and where at the church societies the men sit on one side of the room and talk to each other about crops and the women sit on the other side of the room and discuss babies and chicken cholera with each other, a woman who danced with a man other than her husband, or engaged in a pleasant conversation with him, might be open to suspicion. But, good heavens, the thing is ridiculous in society in a city!

If your wife were out jorjoring until 3 a.m. with some shelm, or keeping secret dates with him, you might have reason to worry, but certainly you have no cause to be jealous of your wife as long as she is devoted to you, and willing to stay at home with you, and only acts as a human being and not a dummy when she steps out with you.

The trouble with you, Mr. Man, is that you are reading your own interpretation into everything your wife does. You are seeing harm where none exists.

You are making mountains out of molehills, and when we let our imaginations run riot there is no limit to which they cannot go. There is no interpretation so vile that you cannot put on a perfectly innocent act. You can see lasciviousness in a harmless dance. You can see a rendezvous in a chance meeting. You can scent unfaithfulness in every act and suspect love-making in a casual conversation. You can torment yourself into insanity over nothing at all. And that seems to me about what you are doing, Mr. Man.

And bear this in mind. There is no other way in the world in which you can kill your wife's love for you so quickly as you can by jealousy. A woman soon comes to hate the man who insults her with his suspicions, and who makes her afraid to be decently polite to any man she meets.

You can't keep a woman shut up in a harem these days. The only way you can bind one to you is by kindness, and by having the faith in her that puts her on her honor.

DEAR MISS DIX—I am seventeen years old and very much in love with a man of whom my father disapproves. My mother has consented to our marriage in March, and says that she will sign the marriage license for me, as I am not of marriageable age. After mother has signed, can father have the marriage annulled? PATTY.

Answer: I don't know. I hope so, because somebody should be able to save you from your own folly and keep you from making a marriage that is almost certain to spell disaster for you.

For believe me, Patty, when I tell you that there is not one girl in a thousand, not one girl in 10,000, who marries at seventeen, who does not regret it in bitterness and tears.

At seventeen a girl is too young to know her own mind, her tastes change from day to day, and the man who comes up to her ideal then she wouldn't have on a bet when she is twenty-two.

At seventeen a girl hasn't had her playtime. She isn't ready to settle down and assume all of the burdens and responsibilities that matrimony inevitably brings. Of all the pathetic sights in the world, there is none more pitiful than a poor, little sickly child-mother, wrestling with a sickly little baby.

If you marry this man when you are seventeen, Patty, by the time you are twenty-one you will be a worn-out old woman, tired of matrimony, tired of your children, tired of the man you are married to. You will be crazy for the pleasures of youth that you have missed, and the chances are that you will meet some man with whom you will fall in love, and then you will be a broken-hearted woman the balance of your days.

When the law forbids girls of seventeen to marry it is trying to keep them from committing the form of suicide that you are contemplating. And it is a shame that silly and romantic mothers like yours have it in their power to nullify this wise provision.

There ought to be something with boiling oil in it done to a woman who will aid and abet a girl of seventeen in getting married.

DEAR MISS DIX—Ten years ago, on account of financial reverses, my mother started dressmaking to give us the necessities of life. But sewing is having a bad effect on her, as she has got so nervous and irritable we can hardly stand it. She gives way to her feeling about everything and fusses over nothing.

What could we do to make her pleasant to live with? DAUGHTER.

Answer: Go to work and help her make the living. She is overworked. Take her burdens on your strong young shoulders. Put her and make her see how grateful you are to her, and she will calm down. You can't wonder that it gets on mother's nerves to be the perpetual family ghost.

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline, but do not compel"

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 2, 1934

Benefic stars dominate to-day, according to astrology. The planetary government appears to aid persons who hold public office, bringing approval and sudden changes of attitude. Again the stars are read as forecasting sudden and confused opinions among voters.

This is a lucky day for those who ask support or aid of any sort, and most auspicious for political candidates.

Fortunate are all who sign contracts under this rule, which forbids delay.

The conjunction of Mercury, Venus and Jupiter presages commercial activity.

South America will bring to North America a great volume of trade, it is indicated. Old interests will cause conflicts among financial leaders, it is prophesied, and will affect the political status of certain candidates.

Warships and other vessels on the high seas are to receive much attention from the press. Again disasters are prophesied. Many storms are to mark the autumn.

Persons whose birthdate is 14 have the anxiety of 1934 year in mind, and mental unrest. The young may be unreasonably jealous and suspicious.

Children born on this day probably will be intense in natural impulses, exceedingly ambitious and full of worldly success. Vanity may be apparent in both boys and girls.

Two presidents of the United States were born on this day: James H. Polk in 1795, and Warren G. Harding in 1895. Others who have celebrated it as a birthday include Marie Antoinette, Queen of France, 1755; James E. Watson, United States senator, 1864.

SAYS PEARY GOT TO POLE

Danish Arctic Explorer Also States in New York Dr. F.
A. Cook Did Not

New York, Nov. 1.—Peter Freuchen, towering red-bearded Dane, who has spent the last thirty years exploring the Arctic, today had voiced angry resentment on hearing that a writer, whom he termed "a rocking-chair Englishman," had denied that Admiral Robert E. Peary had discovered the North Pole.

"Of course Peary went to the Pole," boomed the veteran explorer as he landed from the liner Scanstien on its arrival from Copenhagen.

"I knew Peary," he said. "I have examined his records. Furthermore, I know the four Eskimos who went with him on that trip. They are my good friends. Also, I know the Eskimos who went with Dr. Cook on his trip. I have heard their story."

The Danish explorer, leader himself of four Arctic expeditions, referred to a statement made yesterday in London by J. Gordon Hayes, writer on Polar exploration, that Peary's claims were no more accurate than those of Dr. Frederick A. Cook.

"I know Cook did not go to the Pole," he said. "And I know Peary did."

Included in the cargo for Victoria were 300 boxes of citrus fruits, loaded at southern California ports over the week-end. Also in the local freight consignment was a large amount of dressed oil from Holland and a parcel of liquor from Scotland, as well as general products from England.

Passengers aboard the Loch Katrine included Harry Stuart, returning to his home in Victoria after a holiday trip to the British Isles; Mrs. Mary Powers of San Francisco, on her way to Port Alberni; Mr. and Mrs. John Singland, returning to their home in Trail from England; and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rogers, who are en route to Chilliwack.

The Ms. Aorangi, of the Canadian-Australasia Line, which left the Rithet pier this evening at 7 o'clock from Sydney, Auckland, Suva and Honolulu, is bringing passengers, cargo and mails for Victoria, and will proceed to Vancouver at midnight.

Inbound from San Diego, Los Angeles and San Francisco, the Ms. Emma Alexander, of the Pacific Steamship Lines, will reach the Rithet pier this evening at 9:30 o'clock. Capt. G. A. Hartle, this morning advised the local office for Victoria the Emma has forty passengers and thirty tons of general cargo.
